Discharge Three Defendants in Windham Case

Judge Howard Says Evidence in Two Cases Was Illegal—Judge Cunningham Given Opportunity to Sustain Accusations.

The indictments against Mrs. Rose Theodorberg of Newark, N. J., her sister, Mrs. Esther Litt of Brooklyn, and Burtell Branaugh of Windham, charged with murder in the first degree in killing Mrs. Rothenberg's seven year old son, Howard, at Windham, last August, were dismissed by Supreme Court Justice Wesley O. Howard at Troy Wednesday evening and the defendants walked out of the court room free. The indictment against Mrs. Rothenberg was dismissed on motion of District Attorney Charles G. Coffin, who told Judge Howard that the evidence in that case was insufficient to convict her. The indictments against Mrs. Litt and Branaugh were dismissed on motion of their respective attorneys, Judge William D. Cunningham of Ellenville and the Hon. Frank H. Osborne of Catskill, who based their motion on the claim that illegal evidence had been presented to the grand jury which found the indictment. Judge Howard held that the evidence so presented was illegal.

Motions to dismiss the indictments followed the granting of a motion recently by Judge Howard allowing the defendants' attorneys to inspect the grand jury minutes. The three defendants were in court when the matter came before Judge Howard Wednesday.

Both Judge Cunningham and Mr. Osborne reviewed the history of the case, and the former attacked the evidence of Detective Sweeney, who had been employed by the officials, and State Trooper Sager as being highly prejudicial. Judge Cunningham said he proposed to solve the mystery of the boy's murder and to reveal who killed him, but Frank W. Brooks of this city, who appeared as counsel with District Attorney Coffin for the People, objected to such statements, and Judge Howard would not allow Judge Cunningham to make the revelation at that time. Judge Cunningham intimated, however, that he referred to Anna Sobin, the seventeen year old girl who was brought to Windham by Mrs. Rothenberg to look after the Rothbergs. He said the girl bore a good reputation in Greene county but "in a conversation disclosed that she had been inmate of a defective, that her good reputation was established in part at least by attending a Catholic Church in the morning and a Protestant Church in the afternoon."

Concerning Lester R. Smith of Catskill, attorney for Anna Sobin, Judge Cunningham said that Mr. Smith had written to the girl's foster father, Joseph Serefin, on April 11 last, requesting him to send him the letters that Anna had written to her home, and that Mr. Smith had directed the girl's foster-mother to burn any letters she had received from Anna. He said he had a statement of Mrs. Serefin to that effect and he also produced what purported to be a letter written by Mr. Smith asking that Anna's letters be sent to him. Mr. Smith denied the statements.

Mr. Smith asked Judge Howard to discharge Anna Sobin from the hall in which she had been previously released, but Judge Howard left the determination of that matter for Judge Roscoe, who will hear the motion next Monday. Judge Howard pointing out the desirability of such procedure which would allow Judge Cunningham an opportunity to take whatever action he desires.

Judge Howard, in dismissing the indictments, said: "I feel that these indictments ought to be dismissed, first because there is no evidence whatever against any of the three and nothing from which any legal inference could be drawn by the grand jury connecting these three with the crime. Second, the evidence presented before the grand jury by Detective Sweeney and Trooper Sager was highly prejudicial, illegal and improper from every angle and standpoint and influenced and decided the grand jury action and led the minds of the grand jury to the conclusions they reached, and there was nothing else to which to base such a conclusion."

District Attorney Coffin did not say whether he would present the case to another grand jury.

The Windham murder case became celebrated last summer not only on account of the circumstances surrounding the finding of the seven year old boy's body but the minor complications which followed. The body was allowed to be taken to New Jersey for burial before an autopsy was performed, and a court order was then necessary to have it exhumed and the autopsy performed at that state. Later, the coroner, who resided in Windham, died of heart failure. He was also a physician and was familiar with the case. Then several others who figured prominently in the case died, and from a distance it has appeared probable no conviction of anyone ever would be obtained from the evidence which was disclosed to the public. Throughout its course the case has been marked by many statements to the newspapers, all of which if accurate would seem to indicate a desire to talk rather than to act.

Church Supper Tonight.
A strawberry shortcake supper will be held tonight at St. Mark's A. M. E. Church under auspices of the Sunday Circle.

Reckless Driver Was Fined $25

Norman K. Cashin of Rhinecliff was arrested Wednesday afternoon by Motorcycle Officer Kuehn, who charged Cashin with driving 33 miles an hour down Broadway without signaling at street intersections. This morning Judge Schirck found Cashin guilty of reckless driving and fined him $25, which he paid.

Fred Brown was arrested Wednesday by Officer Hess on a charge of disorderly conduct. This morning Brown said he was not guilty and his hearing was adjourned to Saturday morning.

Tony Saccaman of East Kingston pleaded guilty to driving a car without a tail light. He paid a $3 fine.

Marriage Ends Abduction Case

This morning in police court in Saugerties, Anthony Cafaldo of Glasco, held on a charge of abducting Alway Ferraro, daughter of Joseph Ferraro of Glasco, was discharged from custody when the father withdrew the complaint.

It developed at the hearing today that Frank, a brother of Anthony, had been anxious to marry Alway, but the father had refused consent. This morning the question was threshed out in police court and the father consented to his daughter marrying Frank. A license had been obtained Wednesday, and the parties left the court room presumably headed for the church.

The father was represented by Attorney Chris J. Flanagan, while Brininger & Canfield with Grant M. Brininger, of counsel, appeared for Cafaldo.

Bryan Prates of His Knowledge

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Grand Rapids, Mich., May 29.—Taking a fling at Dr. Theodore S. Henry, professor of psychology at Western State Normal, Kalamazoo, who in a recent address here said "Bryan does not know what he's talking about when he discusses evolution," William Jennings Bryan made a challenge today for "any son of an ape to match cards with me." "I have never considered myself more than an average man," the Commoner said, "but it is not boasting when I state that I have an education. I can write after my name A. B., A. M., L.D. and L.L.D. I have never done so, but if some people keep on calling me an ignoramus I am going to have cards printed large enough to have these titles on."

Mail Service on Memorial Day

There will be no mail deliveries in Kingston on Friday. While the post office lobbies will be open for the convenience of box holders, the stamp and general delivery windows will be closed all day. There will be one collection of mail from the more important mail boxes at 2 o'clock that afternoon.

"A PAIR OF SIXES" MADE A BIG HIT WEDNESDAY.

Wednesday evening St. Joseph's Dramatic Society presented "A Pair of Sixes" at the high school auditorium for the benefit of the Boy Scout summer camp. The play, which was extremely well given, drew a large audience. All taking part deserve great credit. In the cast were John P. Mack, Donald Sweeney, J. Harold Cunningham, Miss Genevieve R. Birmingham, J. Paul Purcell, Owen J. Cassidy, Thomas P. Wayne, Charles Hurley, Edward J. Richards, Miss Margaret M. Lebert, Miss Jane K. Schnitzler and Miss Gertrude R. Birmingham.

PRESIDENT MAY GET MELLON REPORT TODAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, May 29.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's report on the new tax bill probably will be sent to President Coolidge late today or tomorrow.

Treasury officials declared that Secretary Mellon still regards the tax bill as unsatisfactory. Mellon told visitors his attitude toward the tax bill did not necessarily mean that he would recommend its veto.

IMPLICATES HIMSELF IN FRANKS KIDNAPING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Louisville, Ky., May 29.—C. F. Heath, 35 years old druggist of Chicago, found unconscious today in his apartment at the Coker Hotel, after being removed to the city hospital, made a statement in which police say he admitted implication in the kidnaping and murder case of Robert Franks, 13 year old son of Jacob Franks, Chicago millionaire.

Means Says Banks Are Bootleggers

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 29.—The banking interests of Pennsylvania, including those in which Secretary of the Treasury Mellon is connected, were described today as the biggest bootleggers in America, by Gaston B. Means, former department of justice agent, testifying before the Wheeler-Brookhart committee.

Means was on the witness stand today for the fourth time before the committee and unfolded another sensational story of alleged graft and corruption in high governmental office.

Means said his statements were based upon an investigation of the Guggenheim liquor case.

"I got in touch with a lawyer, Oscar Cummings of Johnstown, Pa.," Means said. "He knew of a plot to release thousands of gallons of whiskey from the Guggenheim Distillery on forged permits."

Means produced a letter written by Cummings to Former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, telling of the "plot" and involving prohibition enforcement officers.

"On the strength of Cummings' story, we went to Pittsburgh and got the forged permits," Means testified. "There was $1,500,000 worth of liquor drawn from the distillery on forged permits."

Means said he made daily reports to William J. Burns, then chief of the bureau of investigation, Assistant Attorney General Walker Wildebrandt, and Assistant Attorney General John Crim. He got valuable papers Means said, for which offers of $25,000 were made on several occasions by persons wishing to get them back. Means did not say who made the offers.

"I kept on asking for more information," Means said. "The evidence went way up."

"If you'll investigate you'll find that Secretary Mellon knows more about the liquor situation than any other man."

"His banks are interested, too. The big banks were the big bootleggers and the daddy of them all were the Mellon string."

"We had a complete case. We had the evidence on the corrupt government officials and the trail led right to the top. That was shown by the frozen line of credit in the Mellon line of banks. No one was so familiar with the liquor business as Secretary Mellon and his banking interests, and these banks wanted to release these frozen credits. The banks had the liquor warehouse receipts and they wanted the liquor out so they could get the money."

"Most of the beer in the east comes out of the protected breweries of Pennsylvania. The only way it was stopped was that the New York and New Jersey brewers knocked off the trucks that came out of New York."

"If you'll question Fergus and Brown, who own the Guggenheim distillery, they'll blow the lid off prohibition enforcement."

"They'll strike at the very top, too—the banks, the biggest bootleggers in America."

"Name some of these banks," demanded Chamberlain.

"Well, Mr. Mellon's bank was the daddy of them all. And there was Chatham and Phoenix of New York and lots of others."

"Mr. Wildebrandt knew of these offers being made to me," Means said, of the attempt he charged had been made to bribe him.

"When you reported all this to the department of justice and Jesse Smith and the others, wasn't it a fact that the department became eager to take over prohibition enforcement?"

"Jesse Smith said to me," Means answered, "that he had a commission from the president to investigate prohibition and he wanted to go to the top, regardless of who was involved."

"I had a clear understanding with him on that. He said: 'Particularly do we want to get Commissioner Blair out. Everybody hates Blair—senators and everybody.'"

"What happened to the Guggenheim case?" asked Wheeler.

"So far as I know, nothing whatever has been done about the case."

Means charged that "the interests were working hand in glove with the whiskey smuggling ships of 'Rum Row' on the east coast."

"They bring whiskey in just like we, when I was working for the Germans before the United States got in the war, sent food and rubber and things out of the country for Germany," said Means.

"The sea going ships stay out there and load their stuff into tugs. The tugs bring it in."

"That means fixing clearance papers and log books and things abroad. There are plenty of ways these ships could be proved guilty of violating laws if a bunch of good American lawyers were sent across and got busy. But if you did that, you see, you'd be bothering the shipping interests."

"After the Guggenheim case what did you do?"

"I walked out of the department and opened an office in a local hotel. Jesse Smith paid my expenses. He paid the expenses of my stenographer, Miss Laura Jacobson."

"Did she try to get something on Senator Caraway?"

"She did everything possible."

"Did you want Caraway for yourself?"

"Certainly not, for Jesse Smith. To me, Caraway was only a number."

"He had been attacking Daugherty?"

"Yes, and President Harding. But Caraway was as clean as hound's tooth."

"Instead of answering its critics."

"ON FAME'S ETERNAL CAMPING GROUND"

Memorial Day, 1924

(To Maurice, a dead comrade.)

Today we pause to drop a rose
(Perchance a tear)
Upon the earthy bed of those Who slumber here,
And rest and wait the coming dawn.

A little thing it seems; and yet
How shall we say
(Who have not learned to forget Nor ever may)
The things our full hearts dwell upon.

Our fallen comrades far away
In other lands,
Where poppies nod and grasses sway
And loving hands
No floral tribute may bestow.

Ah, yes, you know the pledge we make
This solemn day!
To do our part that none need take
The grievous way
You trod that Truth should live, and Right.

But, hear us! Should it ever be
Our lot to take
The cross of war for Liberty
May we not break
The faith with which you fought the fight.

Big Addition To Yacht Club

The Rondout Yacht Club at Kingston Point will open for the season on Decoration Day. The club has just completed the erection of a large addition to the club house and now have accommodations for 80 canoes. The new addition also affords additional dancing space for the club dances. Both an upper and lower porch have been placed on the front of the club house. The club is growing rapidly which made it necessary to improve and enlarge the club house.

"Joke" Brought Stomach Pump

But "Joke" Was Explained Before Kingston City Hospital Had Chance to Use It on Feminine Humorist.

Police headquarters Wednesday evening received a hurry call from No. 45 Meadow street where it was said that Mrs. Mamie Hudson, a negro, had attempted suicide by swallowing poison. The Kingston City Hospital authorities were notified and the city ambulance hurried to the house. Mrs. Hudson was rushed to the hospital, but just as members of the staff were getting ready to use the stomach pump she weakened and confessed that she had not taken poison, but was just "joking" her husband, with whom she had quarreled. She left the hospital and returned home.

War Fraud Cases To Be Prosecuted

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, May 29.—Vigorous prosecution of war fraud cases by the department of justice is to start at once, Attorney General Stone said today. He estimated that about $50,000,000 was at stake in civil suits which the government will undertake.

Announcement was made of the selection of Powell Shipman Andrews of Syracuse, N. Y., to head the aviation division of the war transactions section in the department.

Presbyterians Still in Turmoil

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Grand Rapids, Mich., May 29.—Adoption by the general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the majority report of the judiciary commission, recommending that Harry Emerson Fosdick, Baptist ordained minister, acting as supply pastor in First Presbyterian Church in New York, be notified that he must accept the doctrinal standards of the Presbyterian Church, or relinquish his pulpit, was held by leaders in both factions today as a mere deferment until next year as the modernist fundamentalist clash.

The judiciary body's report stipulated that a committee named by the New York Presbytery confer with Fosdick concerning his willingness to enter the Presbyterian church and become subject to its authority and report to the general assembly at its next meeting.

The action, as expressed in the words of Elder James L. Rankin, of Chester, Pa., simply leaves it for another year to stir up turmoil, strife and war.

Candle Caused Fatal Fire.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., May 29.—A fire caused by a candle snuffed out the life of Mrs. Eliza Manning, 80, at her home 194 Third street today. The candle set fire to the bed clothes. The aged woman lived alone and when firemen forced their way into her apartment she was dead.

County Court Will Convene Next Monday

There will be a trial jury but not a grand jury in attendance. There are twenty-two causes of action on the calendar of trial cases, the date of issue of No. 1 being April 5, 1917.

Wife Furnishes Bail for Husband

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 29.—The laughter and the smile faded from Frank Tinney's face when he was held in $2,500 bail today on a charge of feloniously attacking Imogene Wilson, 21 year old "Follies" girl who said she was in love with the famous married comedian.

Mrs. Tinney, who threatened to divorce him in 1921 but changed her mind, furnished the bail money. The comedian said his wife had him thrown out of her automobile on Broadway Tuesday after the city was stirred with reports of a party at Miss Wilson's apartment during which she made an alleged effort to commit suicide over a break with Tinney.

The alleged attack was subsequent to the "suicide party."

Miss Wilson said she was not able to appear because of her injuries. He said she would be there Saturday when the case is tried.

"I don't think she'll appear against me," Tinney said. "She is not as hurt as she pretends."

Tinney denied attacking the Follies beauty.

Mrs. Tinney was in court this morning and made this statement: "What can a poor girl do when a man lies to her?" asked Mrs. Tinney. Frank told her he was not getting along with his wife and she believed him. "I saw Miss Wilson with my husband several years ago and warned her to stay away from him."

Mrs. Tinney said she had not "devised any punishment" for her husband.

"I think he's getting punishment enough," she said.

Tinney joked with the policemen before the arraignment and seemed to be enjoying himself.

He looked glum when Edward V. Vroederick, Miss Wilson's attorney, denounced him and asked the court to fix bail high.

"This man has left a trail of maimed women behind him," Vroederick declared. "His latest victim is too ill to appear today and I would like a postponement."

Judge Henry Goodman set the hearing for Saturday.

Toward the end of the proceedings Tinney brightened considerably. "She will not appear," he said, confidently. "Nobody ever appeared against me—nobody ever will."

The comedian and his wife left together.

Sherman Will Fight Increase

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., May 29.—"This litigation is a disguised attempt by the New York Telephone Company not only to increase their rates but to deprive the state of the jurisdiction it now exercises through the public service commission over the concerns of this corporation. Without such control the public is helpless and must pay what the company asks. I intend to call into play every agency of the state has at its command to defeat this scheme."

After forwarding his brief and other information in the case to the corporation counsel of upstate cities, Attorney General Carl Sherman today made this caustic comment in a statement on the recent injunction brought by the telephone company to restrain the public service commission and the attorney general's office from interfering with its plans.

"I regard this as one of the most far reaching legal efforts ever made to obtain an unfair advantage over the public and it ought to fail," Sherman continued. "In the past public service corporations have shown the courtesy of waiting until either a temporary or a final order has been made by the state's officers before appealing to the Federal courts."

Sherman challenged the telephone company to deny to the court whether its aim was not to increase rates 20 per cent in upstate cities and to secure an even greater increase in New York city.

Dead and Injured In Cyclone's Path

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Oklahoma City, Okla., May 29.—The death toll stood at eleven today in the cyclone which swept through certain sections of Oklahoma late yesterday.

According to reports received here, Wetumka was struck the worst blow of any of the towns in which the storm passed. Nine persons were known dead at that little town.

Two persons lost their lives at Warner, 15 miles south of Muskogee.

About 100 persons were injured, many of whom are in a serious condition.

Woman's Slayer Gets 20 Years

Aged Motion Picture Operator Found Guilty Today of Murdering Woman on Staten Island in March.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 29.—Harry L. Hoffman, middle aged motion picture operator, tried for the slaying of Mrs. Maude A. Bauer, was found guilty of murder in the second degree by a jury at 7:10 o'clock this morning. Hoffman was sentenced to from 20 years to life in prison. The jury had been out since 6:30 o'clock last evening.

Mrs. Bauer, mother of two children, was killed in a lonely road in Chelsea, Staten Island, March 25 last, after she had accepted a "lift" from a passing motorist. Her automobile, in which her two children and her mother had been riding, had stalled and Mrs. Bauer was in search of a garage when she met the man in the machine who killed her.

Counsel for Hoffman waived the usual 48 hour stay of sentence and Judge J. Harry Tierman sentenced Hoffman to "from 20 years to life imprisonment" in Sing Sing prison.

Hoffman received the verdict with shocked surprise. He had been idling his time in the court room and was standing talking with his counsel, Alfred V. Norton, when the jury filed into the room.

Hoffman glanced with what appeared to be commonplace interest toward the jurors, either feigning disinterest at what their verdict might be, or convinced in his own mind that the prosecution had failed to prove its case.

Many persons had waited all night for the verdict, even Judge Tierman, who had hourly expected to be summoned from his chambers.

When the verdict was announced, Hoffman's face fell. He reentered forward on his toes. He involuntarily stretched out a hand as though to support himself. Then he collapsed in a chair.

Hoffman buried his face in his hands and his frame shook with a convulsive sob.

Norton quickly crossed the room to him and dropped a sympathetic hand on his shoulder.

After a moment or two Hoffman pulled himself together and rose from the chair. The two men went to one side of the court room and held a whispered conference. The lawyer talking earnestly. Hoffman seemed in doubt, but finally the two men reached a decision.

Norton then turned to the court. "My client waives the usual stay of sentence and is ready to receive his sentence," he said.

"It is the decision of this court," then said Judge Tierman, "that the defendant, Harry L. Hoffman, be confined in Sing Sing prison for a period of from 20 years to life."

Hoffman's pent up emotions found verbal expression when he was led out of the building to where the prison van was waiting.

"Now you and your lying witnesses," he shrieked hysterically at District Attorney Fack, "can divide up the reward. I am innocent and you know it."

Questioned later by newspapermen District Attorney Fack said: "I have no comment to make on Hoffman's remark or the outcome of the case."

Hoffman did not speak as he rode in the prison van back to his cell. John Murphy, the jail attendant who guarded him, said that Hoffman was extremely nervous during the trip.

Once in his cell Hoffman dropped in the bunk, buried his face in the palms of his hands and wept bitterly, according to the keeper.

MAY HAVE REVERSED ASCENSION DAY ADAGE.

Today was Ascension Day, and according to a time honored adage if rain fell on that day, it will continue to fall for the ensuing forty days. While an actual count has not been kept of the number of days that rain has fallen in Kingston for the past six weeks, it would appear to the casual observer that even if rain should fall today, that the old adage would be reversed, and that the forty days' rain had preceded instead of following Ascension Day.

AFRICAN TOWN WILL HAVE FREE NATURAL HOT WATER

Windhook, a small town in South West Africa, stakes its claim to be the only town in the world that can boast of a natural hot-water service.

Windhook possesses a hot-water mineral spring, and, by means of pipes, the spring is to be connected with the water supply, making it possible for citizens to take a hot bath at any time of the day without stoking up the kitchen range.

The municipal authorities claim that the water from the spring is most healthful, and that the water is very efficacious in cases of jaundice and other similar complaints.

No other records present such a quality or variety of musical entertainment as the Victor Records contained in the Victor Record Catalogs and in the new lists issued every week. No other talking-machine attains such perfection of reproduction as the Victrola; and the range of sizes, designs and prices provides a style for every home. As no other talking-machines or records equal Victor products individually, it is apparent that no other combination than Victor Records and the Victrola used together can produce the best results.

Red Seal Records

- | | DOUBLE-FACED | Number | List Price |
|--|--------------|--------|------------|
| Hungarian Dance No. 4, in B Minor (Branco-Auer) Fritz Kreisler | | | |
| Rondino (Vieuxtemps) Fritz Kreisler | | | |
| First Victor Record by this celebrated young violinist who has gained the recognition her splendid powers deserve. A beautiful tone, a splendid technique, an amazing breadth of style—all are revealed in this record. | | | |
| A Brown Bird Singing (Barrie-Wood) Reinald Werrenrath | | 984 | 1.50 |
| Sittin' Thinkin' (Toussaint-Fabert) Reinald Werrenrath | | | |
| A charming pastoral ballad, sung with the utmost ease and naturalness; and a "Shepherd's song," having a somewhat intricate melody. Sung by this famous baritone with great enunciation skill. Victor recording does full justice to the artist's interpretations. | | | |

Light Vocal Selections

- | | | |
|--|-------|------|
| Love Makes the World a Merry-Go-Round (Sir Harry Lauder) | 55222 | 1.50 |
| I Like My Old Home Town (Sir Harry Lauder) | | |
| The first song of good humor, wholesome and tonic as the wind off the Scotch heather. The other is almost in military style, so far as its music goes. Both are heartening songs and the records are Sir Harry out and out | | |
| A Little Bit o' Honey (Olive Kline) | 45412 | 1.00 |
| Sonny Boy (Olive Kline) | | |
| Two songs, with softly "fitching" cradle-rhythms, for the heart of motherhood. The voice is one of those rare ones which we are always glad to hear, and the record is a splendid example of Victor recording. | | |
| When Love Comes Stealing (Lewis James) | 19326 | .75 |
| I'm Waiting for Ships That Never Come In (Bruce Wallace) | | |
| Popular songs of love and human experience. The first is in waltz time and is one of the finest records James ever made. The second is somewhat in fox trot style and combines admirably with the first number. | | |

Melodious Instrumental

- | | | |
|---|-------|-----|
| Sunshine Capers (Piano Solo) Roy Barry | 19320 | .75 |
| Rufenreddy (Piano Solo) Roy Barry | | |
| Two piano numbers of Barry's own composing. You may dance to them, for they are in excellent fox trot rhythms. But you must not consider them dance records alone, for they are examples of American popular piano music, delightful to hear. | | |

Dance Records

- | | | |
|---|-------|-----|
| The Little Wooden Whistle Wouldn't (Whistle-Fox Trot with vocal refrain) S. S. Leviathan Orchestra | 19323 | .75 |
| Arabian—Fox Trot | | |
| A pair of fox trots of far more than ordinary melodic interest, the first with a vocal refrain by Billy Murray. "Arabian" is in true oriental style. Records par excellence from the dancer's viewpoint. | | |
| Oriental Love Dreams—Fox Trot (with vocal refrain) Coon-Sanders Original Night Hawk Orchestra | 19325 | .75 |
| My Daddy's Dreamtime (Lullaby-Fox Trot with vocal refrain) | | |
| Lively fox trots. The first number though snappy in style, has some subdued saxophone melodies. The second syncopates remotely on Schumann's "Traumerei" and "In the Gloaming." The records clearly show why this organization has made such a hit with the dance fans. | | |
| Wait'll You See My Gal—Fox Trot (The Benson Orchestra of Chicago) Jean Goldkette and His Orchestra | 19327 | .75 |
| Eileen—Fox Trot | | |
| The first number features the xylophone in a light graceful dance. "Eileen" is melodious and introduces "The Minstrel Boy." Both orchestras are favorites with dance lovers and these records will win them new adherents. | | |

TODAY WE CELEBRATE

AGNES D'HARCOURT.

Abbess of the celebrated convent of Longchamp, near Paris, founded by the pious sisters of St. Louis, Isabella de France, was the daughter of Juan d'Harcourt. She was appointed Abbess in 1263, two years after the establishment of the convent by Isabella, and remained so till her death in November, 1291. Agnes had received an education worthy of her illustrious birth, as was fully proved, by the work she left. It was "The Life of Isabella," written with so much naïveté and such an exquisite simplicity, as to be considered one of the most valuable works of the early French writers. Before the revolution of 1789, the Abbey possessed the original manuscript of this work, written with the greatest care, perhaps by Agnes herself, on a roll of vellum.

NEW YORK JOURNAL.

The first number of the New York Journal, or General Advertiser, was published 157 years ago today, May 29, 1767. John Holt was the founder, but it was financed and inspired by George Clinton, Philip Schuyler and other leaders of the revolutionary party. The newspapers of the colonies played a tremendous part in fomenting the spirit of revolution, and the New York Journal was one of the most influential of the "rebel" journals which had their beginning with Samuel Adams's Independent Advertiser, established in Boston in 1748. The Journal preached rebellion in New York until the British army took possession of the city in 1776, when the publication office was removed to Esopus. In 1777, that town was burned by the English, Holt, determined and far from discouraged, revived his paper in Poughkeepsie.

The Journal was published in Poughkeepsie until the close of the revolution, when Holt returned to New York and commenced the publication of the Independent Gazette, or the New York Journal Revived. The Journal was not alone in advocating rebellion. Among other prominent organs of the Revolutionary party in the colonies was the Boston Gazette and Country Gentleman, founded in 1755; the Charleston Gazette and Country Gentleman, established in 1765; the Williamsburg, Virginia, Gazette, inspired by Thomas Jefferson, which began publication in 1766; and the Massachusetts Spy, "called 'the sedition founder'" by the Royalists, founded at Boston in 1770 and removed to Worcester in 1775.

SINKING OF "EMPERESS OF IRELAND," A TERRIBLE RIVER TRAGEDY.

Sinking in ninety feet of water within fifteen minutes after being rammed amidships by the Danish collier Stordal, in the upper reaches of the St. Lawrence River, ten years ago at 2 o'clock this morning, the Canadian Pacific steamship, Empress of Ireland, carried down with her more than 800 of her passengers and crew, and added to the archives of disasters which have since been flooded with entries. Of the 1,367 known to have been on board, only 433 were reported saved on the next morning when the world learned of the tragedy.

Among the notable passengers lost were Laurence Irving, the actor, son of Sir Henry Irving; his wife, Mabel Hackett, and Sir Henry Seaton-Karr. The Empress of Ireland also had on board a number of Salvation Army delegates to a London conference. In command of Captain M. G. Kendall, R. N. R., she left Montreal on the afternoon of May 28, 1914, stopped at Quebec, and proceeded from that port on her voyage to Liverpool at 4:30 o'clock on the afternoon of the 23th. Looming up through the river mists, as the Empress of Ireland was lying to wait for the fog to lift, or day to break, the Danish collier Stordal crashed bow-on into the side of the big Canadian liner, striking her about midway of her length and tearing her side open to the stern.

According to officers of the Empress of Ireland, when the lights of the Stordal were seen it was reported to Captain Kendall on the bridge, and he at once signaled with three blasts of the whistle, "I am continuing my course." As the collier approached, Captain Kendall signalled full steam astern, but the Stordal came on, ramming the Empress amidships on the starboard side. Instantly the Empress began to list.

The crash occurred not far from the shore off Father Point, 150 miles from Quebec, and ten miles from Quebec, which is on the St. Lawrence river. In reality, therefore, the disaster was not one of the ocean, but one of the river. Unlike the Titanic's victims, the Empress of Ireland's passengers and crew lost their lives without sight of land and locked waters.

between picked men! If we could only choose 100 boxers on each side and let them decide, how much better that would be than dreadful war!

CURIOUS SHIP WILL CARRY BRITISH FIGHT PLANES

Britain's largest and latest aircraft carrier, the Hermes, has just been commissioned for service with the British Atlantic Fleet.

Dubbed as the most curious-looking ship in the British Navy, the Hermes is claimed to be the last word in aircraft carriers. One of her unusual features is that the mast, funnel and superstructure are all built on the starboard side of the vessel, leaving a large deck space for aeroplanes to take off and alight.

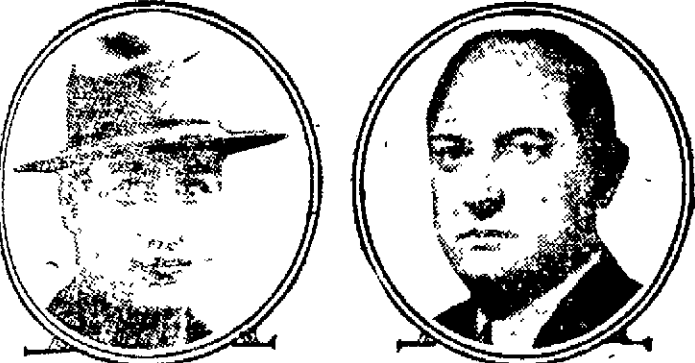

She has two large hangars fitted below decks accommodating twenty aeroplanes, which are raised to the flying off deck by means of electric elevators.

PASTOR WELL KNOWN HERE
CALLED TO CATSKILL

The Rev. George W. Rockwell of Pawling, N. Y., who recently occupied the pulpit of the Wurts Street Baptist Church in this city, has been given a unanimous call to the pastorate of the First Baptist Church, Catskill, of which he had been pastor several years ago. The Catskill church heard no candidates after their pastor, the Rev. W. W. Sawin, resigned to accept a call to Calvary Baptist Church, Schenectady.

The House of Representatives has confirmed the right of Royal H. Weizler, Democrat, of New York City, to a seat in Congress, which was contested by Martin C. Ansorge, Republican. Angelo Milton Ellison, Greek ex-elevator boy, has filed suit in New York courts for the entire $17,000,000 estate of his alleged foster father, Edward E. Searles, millionaire recluse of Melbuen, Mass., which was inherited by Arthur T. Walker, Searles' secretary. Henry Morgenthau, millionaire New York philanthropist, has been officially thanked by the Greek Government from his relief work among Greek refugees from the Turks in Macedonia. Adolph Stern, of New York City, has been unanimously elected Grand Master of the Independent Order B'nai Abraham, in session at Saratoga, N. Y. The order has 500 lodges in America.

HUGE BRIDGE SPANS MIGHTY HUDSON.

Two foot bridges have been swung from the world's largest suspended bridge, which is being built across the mighty Hudson River at Bear Mountain, New York State's great playground. The foot bridges are suspended from towers 365 feet high. The bridge is 1,632 feet long between towers, and is just above Peekskill, N. Y. It will be completed in 1925 for foot and vehicular traffic.

Near East Wants New Freedom

Speaker Before Rotary Club Gives Intelligent View of Conditions Among People Seeking Progress For Themselves.

An address on conditions in the Near East that did not include the soliciting of funds or old clothes and was not a preliminary to a campaign for relief funds, was the feature of the Rotary Club meeting this week. The speaker was Mr. Staub, secretary for the American colleges in what was once the Turkish Empire, and he dealt with educational, economic and political progress, especially in the Turkish republic.

The speaker was introduced by Moore Gates of Poughkeepsie, son of a former president of Robert College, who spent his early years in Turkey. Mr. Staub has recently returned from a trip to the Near East and gave his impressions of the progress and change that has followed the war.

The three American colleges are no new thing, he said. They have existed for 60 years and are supported about the same as are colleges in America—that is, the tuition fees pay about one half of the expenses and the remainder is paid from an endowment fund. They are not sectarian and do not aim to either Americanize their students or make hybrids of them, but to equip them for better citizenship in their own land and environment. The student body now numbers 2,000 and includes 20 nationalities and all creeds, principally Mohammedans and Jews. Their prestige is greater than that of any government, and they are trusted and respected by the Turks. Contrary to reports, Robert College was never closed during the war.

The attitude of the leaders in the Turkish republic is that they want freedom to work out their own reforms and progress, without outside interference or compulsion. They are not fanatical. They have separated church and state. They found Angora a place of vermin and vile odors, and have already erected a modern hotel and club house. They want to clean up in every way. They want to run their own government, be respected and respect others.

In Syria there is the same struggle for progress. Syrians want independence and do much talking, but there will be no fighting. They have no munitions and no means for waging war, so they talk.

The Near East is disappointed at America's withdrawal from world politics, but is not resentful. The people say America is the only country that was not selfish after the war, and they respect us accordingly, while regretful that we did not continue our work after the war. They want cordial relations and trade with us and the trade is there if we only get in sight. There are 2,000 automobiles in Beirut and the automobile is taking the place of the ramshackle railroads. Most of these cars are of American make, and they are not all Ford's either. The Near East wants machinery, farm implements, moving pictures and radio from America. It is a field worth cultivating and we do not have to tie ourselves up in a league of nations in order to resume relations with Turkey and the other governments and peoples that once were a part of the Turkish empire.

Preceding the address by Mr. Staub the Rotarians welcomed several visitors, including Arthur Anderson of Peekskill and John P. Treiman of Albany, secretary of the state commission of prisons.

CLORINDA FINDS HER OWN KIND

By DORA DEEN

(S. 1924, Western Newspaper Union)

WHEN the home was sold, and Clorinda left alone in the world, with little money after debts were paid, she wondered what she might do to earn her living. This thought in mind, she wrote a commendable application for the place of English teacher in Trainor hall.

Clorinda tried to find contentment in pursuance of her duty among the young women who learned from her. Often when the maidens of Trainor hall were safe in their dormitories for the night Clorinda would walk the gardens alone or sit at the grand piano, playing soft music which might not disturb. And the secret fact that she frequently was possessed of a wild desire to give vent to her pent-up emotions in a dance across the lawn in the moonlight, or to allow her fingers to race over the piano keys in a merry-mad melody, caused poor Clorinda vague fear for the state of her mind.

Then, Peggy Price came to school. There was no doubt of Miss Peggy's eligibility; her father's name was well known in the world of finance. Still the unmoved Misses Trainor saw to it that the happy young girl from the great city was allowed no deviation from rigid rule. To Clorinda, in her heart loneliness, the merry little creature came as a warning gleam of sunlight in a darkened place. The two became at once close friends and companions, Clorinda forgetting in the growing happy intimacy that a Trainor teacher may not companion with her pupils.

The Misses Trainor for a while held their peace while Peggy brought laughter provoking epistles from friends at home to read to the sympathetic Clorinda. She would bring her mending to do where Clorinda sat at the piano, in a spare hour. And the two frequently might be seen walking arm in arm through the gardens. The shocking sound of the English teacher's soft laughter mingled with the joyous scream of Peggy's at last brought the sisters to action.

The remiss instructor was made aware of her sins of commission and duly rebuked with the understanding that such unquest friendship must be discontinued. "If you must have an intimate," remarked Miss Sophia Trainor, "why do you not choose a woman of suitable age? Miss Causley, I am certain, would be helpful to you, as such an associate."

Miss Causley! Unconsciously, Clorinda winced. Miss Causley's chief topic of conversation was bound to be the discouraging failures of those under her charge—uncharitable criticism of those above her in school rule. While the sunny Peggy—Clorinda's blue eyes filled with tears, Peggy had been happy with her; she had even thought that her own friendship might be helpful to the motherless girl. Unsuitable? It was Peggy's indignant exclamation which recalled Clorinda.

"I heard what Miss Trainor said," asserted Peggy, "and if anyone could be more unsuitable for your friendly consideration than the pompous Causley, or the smug Trainors, I'd like to know it."

"Peggy," sighed Clorinda, "the manner in which you refer to your superiors proves that I have neglected my duty."

"Piffle!" snapped Peggy cheerfully. "You know Clor, that yourself and your influence have alone made this place bearable, or improving to me. Without you—I go."

"Clor!" Miss Sophia repeated the name in horror, "Is it so that you have been allowed to address an instructor in my school?"

Peggy nodded; her tone was grave. She had not heard the familiar name since she left home. "I hoped it might make it less desolate to hear it here." That evening, seated in her small room in the school, Clorinda received notice of her dismissal. She was charged with not practicing proper discipline. Sadly she gathered together her belongings. Where would she go now she wondered. Where seek or learn new employment?

Peggy Price dashed into the room. Peggy's eyes were shining bright as usual; her smile had its accustomed good cheer. "I've quit," she said briefly. "Asked for a vacation, and then took it without waiting for an answer. And if they don't like it, I'm not coming back. But here is my surprise. I am taking you home with me for a visit also, without awaiting your consent. And, Clor, darling, I'm going to make a golden coach for you, out of your pumpkin shell. Do you think I mean to be separated so easily?"

So Clorinda went to the beautiful big city home in its beautiful city park and her soft laughter mingled unproved with Peggy's spontaneous mirth.

And not long after the Misses Trainor were astonished to read in the city paper the following announcement:

"The marriage of Miss Clorinda Dawn to Mr. Porter Price was solemnized last evening at the Price family home, on River drive. Miss Peggy Price was the only attendant."

"She will be very rich," said Miss Sophia.

"She will be happy," said the sister, "for Porter Price is known to be an admirable man."

And at this moment a radiant Peggy was saying to her new stepmother:

"Clor, I've got you forever; what happy times we will have."

ALL STARS PLAY IN MAYBROOK TOMORROW

Tomorrow the All Stars will travel to Maybrook to play the club representing that town. The railroad town team has a very fast club, having recently defeated two of the fastest semi-pro clubs in this section of the state. This is the opening game for the local club.

The management has secured the services of a shortstop who hails from Connecticut named Joe Harris. He played with a couple semi-pro clubs in that state last season and in 1921 had a tryout in the Eastern League. Manager McCordie will take the following men with him: Chester, Van Bramer, Stoudt, Black, Harris, Stumpf, Lynch, Lake, Carr, Connelly and Slicker. Stoudt will do the pitching.

A Preparatory Service. A preparatory service for holy communion will be held at the Church of the Comforter this evening at 8 o'clock. It is requested that as many as can be present, also all those who are to join the church on next Sunday. There will be a special meeting of the consistory at the parsonage immediately following the service.

Contests for places on local tickets shows that there is no apathy in county organizations and that Republicans are just as active in their local affairs as they are in state matters. The number of candidates for governor increases every week and there is no doubt that there will be a fine array from which to choose when the state convention is held in Rochester in September.

The assumption by the Government of the bonus burden makes it even more imperative that we collect from European Governments the sums they owe the United States treasury. Some of them are using our money to provide bonuses and other relief for their own ex-service men, while American taxpayers are now asked to put up at least two and a half billions more for our soldiers.

Two weeks more and the Republican national convention will be in full swing in Cleveland. While it is hazardous to point to anything as certain in politics, it is safe to predict that the nominee of the convention will be Calvin Coolidge and that the name of the next President will be Calvin Coolidge. No man ever occupied the White House in whom the people had more confidence. They look upon him as one man who is not afraid to do his duty as he sees it, not playing to the galleries or catering to the mob. He surely has the respect of the people.

Moonshiners of Cumberland County, Pa., are supposed to be responsible for the recent shooting of a young man and woman in a passing automobile. "It is a little startling to learn," says the Philadelphia Record, "that almost within sight of the capital of Pennsylvania the natives are given to this practice, and that a visit to their wilderness subjects the stranger to the same peril that lurks in the southern forests." It is new to hear that in "the southern forests" or anywhere else moonshiners are in the habit of shooting inoffending travellers. Aggressive representatives of the law are the "meat" they are supposed to "lay" for.

Regardless of what Congress may do with bills that President Coolidge returns to the Capitol without approval, the President has made his record on them, which the taxpayers will not forget. When the overwhelming votes for Mr. Coolidge were cast in the primaries the people had clearly in mind his repeated declarations in favor of economy. It was on the basis of those declarations that he has won such phenomenal popularity. In vetoing extra-budget bills, Mr. Coolidge has merely translated into action the principles that he has so frequently voiced. The voters have seen that their trust was not misplaced, and will rally to his support in increasing numbers next November.

Against wide protest O'Neill's play, "All God's Chillun Got Wings," dealing with the marriage of a white woman to a negro, has finally been produced at the Provincetown Playhouse, New York. Paul Robeson, a negro, playing the leading role. Heywood Brown expresses the opinion that objection should logically come from the blacks rather than from the whites, inasmuch as a first-rate negro marries a third-rate white woman who goes insane in consequence of her feeling of degradation. Only those who share O'Neill's love of morbid psychology and taste for the abhorrent could possibly be pleased with a play in every way so revolting. That such a production is unwholesome politically and socially as well as morally goes without saying.

It is not too much to say that the War Finance Corporation, revived and put into renewed operation when Republicans took control of the Government, has been the means of saving thousands of southern cotton and tobacco growers from bankruptcy. Will those farmers show their appreciation by voting next November to keep the Republicans in power for another four years? They will not. Blindly following the traditions of their section of the country, most of them will cast their votes for the Democratic nominee merely because he is a Democrat, utterly oblivious to the comparative records of the Democratic and Republican parties while directing national affairs.

PREVENTING HEART DISEASE.

You have often wondered just what was meant by heart disease, and have perhaps had the idea that it was something that was part of one's make up when he was born.

Perhaps you have also thought that some heart work, some extreme athletic test had produced it.

Now as I mentioned once before, the little fleshy pieces of tissue that close the opening in the heart get inflamed, just like an inflammation anywhere else in the body. When the inflammation subsides these valves, as they are called, have some of their natural tissue replaced by hard fibrous tissue, just like the scar tissue that remains after a burn.

This means that instead of being a small rounded valve fitting into its opening completely, the scar tissue causes some "puckering" of the edges, and through those little puckers the blood flows back into the chamber from whence it just came—a leaky pump as it were.

Now if your heart muscle grows strong again, as it should, Nature enables you to get along all right, just the same as you use a leaky pump perhaps for years.

That is for all ordinary purposes you should get along, and live as long as the other fellow.

But if in addition to the leaky valves, the heart muscle is weak, then when a severe illness comes along you'll have a hard time.

Now what is my thought? Why not try to prevent heart disease?

How? Well your doctor will tell you that most cases of heart disease come along very quietly, and without much discomfort at first.

A sore throat, bad tonsils, bad teeth, some nose ailment, or even intestinal disturbance is usually the cause of trouble. If youngsters begin to have some growing pains, or you have some rheumatic pains, don't forget to let your doctor examine the heart.

A little rest at this time, with nourishing food, and light exercise later in the form of walking, will prevent heart disease very often.

Parish'ners Honor Mgr. Rummel

Big Reception Tendered to Popular Former Pastor of St. Peter's Church in Honor of Appointment as Monsignor.

A reception and testimonial in honor of his recent elevation to monsignorship, was tendered to the Very Rev. Joseph F. Rummel, D. D., a former pastor of St. Peter's Church in this city, by the parishioners of St. Anthony's Church, East 166th street, New York city, and friends from neighboring parishes in New York city and Brooklyn, at Hunt's Point Palace, Bronx, on Monday evening, May 26. Many prominent officials and citizens of New York city were in attendance. Over 1,500 persons were present to honor and pay their respects to the monsignor.

The reception followed a church card party and the testimonials came as a complete and happy surprise to Monsignor Rummel. A purse of $3,000 was presented the pastor by his parishioners and friends. The Bronx Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, a non-sectarian organization, composed of approximately one-third Jewish, one-third Protestants and one-third Catholics, of which Monsignor Rummel is a member, testified to the high esteem in which he is held by presenting him with a purse of $1,500. He was also the recipient of many beautiful and costly vestments and other useful remembrances. The Rev. J. Cleary, an assistant of St. Anthony's Church, acted as chairman and the following program was rendered:

Selection—St. Anthony's Choir

Speakers—

Judge Eli Neumann, for the Jewish Guests

The Rev. William Kephart, for the Non-Catholics

District Attorney McGeehan, of Bronx County, for the Catholics

The Rev. Joseph Gaudier, for St. Anthony's Parish

The Right Rev. Monsignor Daniel Burke, as Dean of the Bronx

Presentation of Testimonials—

H. Wurzbach, for the Bronx Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, (a purse of $1,500)

Robert Neumann, for St. Anthony's Parish, (a purse of $3,000)

Acknowledgment by Monsignor Rummel

Selection—St. Anthony's Choir

A number of Kingstonians attended the reception, among them being Hon. Jacob Rice, Mrs. John N. Corliss, John Corliss and Mrs. James E. Connelly. Many former residents of this city were also present, among them being Mr. and Mrs. William Derrenbacher, Miss Agnes Derrenbacher and Henry Derrenbacher of Brooklyn; Mrs. Barbara Teichert, Miss Wilhelmina Teichert of New York city; Michael A. Reis and Edward Reis of Boca, N. J.

The Very Rev. Monsignor Joseph F. Rummel, D. D., was ordained on May 21, 1902. His first assignment was as curate of St. Joseph's Church, Yorkville, in July, 1903, and extended to May, 1907, when he was transferred to this city as pastor of St. Peter's Church in May, 1907, and while here he carried on a wonderful work for his church. Many changes and repairs were made to the church edifice and rectory; the new St. Peter's School was built under his administration and the church debt was gradually lowered every year so that when his stay in Kingston terminated the finances of his church were in a healthy and flourishing condition.

Monsignor Rummel was transferred from St. Peter's Church in May, 1915, to the church of St. Anthony of Padua, East 166th street and Prospect avenue, Bronx, New York city, where he is still located.

His parishioners and friends were reluctant to see him removed from this city but found solace in the fact that he was being promoted to a larger parish and a bigger field of activity.

His Protestant and Catholic friends in this city were highly elated when the announcement was made on April 28 by Cardinal Hayes that the Pope had conferred the title of monsignor on the former pastor of St. Peter's Church and extend their congratulations and well wishes for his continued success.

Land Drainage is NOW Cheaper and Easier

THE modern farmer uses power in place of hand labor wherever he can. More than ever before he employs explosives to do his work—turning idle acreage into profitable crops. Dynamite does the job at lower cost and does it right.

For draining swamps and wet spots on the farm, du Pont 50% to 60% straight dynamite is recognized as standard. Farmers who know prefer the brand backed by 122 years of explosives manufacture.

We can supply you with du Pont dynamites for ditching, land-clearing and tree-planting work. Just give us the chance to estimate on your next job. We guarantee quick and efficient service—what you want when you want it.

Constipation is ruinous to children— keep yours healthy with Kellogg's Bran

Constipation undermines a child's health. It saps his energy and makes him listless. It can lead to more than 40 other serious diseases. Mothers should take immediate steps to remove, safely and surely, the dangerous poisons from his system.

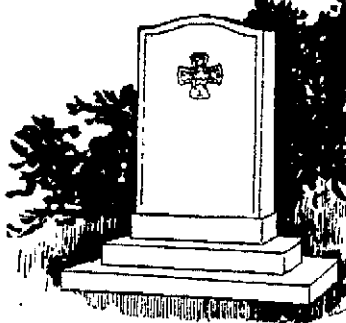

Kellogg's Bran—because it is ALL bran—brings permanent relief. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent active. That is why Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is uniformly recommended by doctors. They say it brings results.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to give permanent relief in the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer returns your money. Kellogg's Bran acts on the bowels exactly as nature acts. It sweeps and cleans and purifies them, and makes them function naturally and regularly. It allows you to discontinue forever the use of harmful, habit-forming drugs and pills.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is a delightful surprise to the taste—particularly if one has tried ordinary unpalatable bran. Kellogg's Bran has a delicious, crisp, nut-like flavor—an exclusive flavor. It is most enjoyable with milk or cream, sprinkled over other cereals or cooked with hot cereals. Try it in bread, muffins, griddle cakes and other recipes given on every package.

Have your children eat it regularly—two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Kellogg's Bran is made at Battle Creek and sold at all grocers. It is served in individual packages by the leading hotels and clubs. Ask for it at your restaurant.

Bonus Claims Up To 1,000 a Day

Daily Number Reviewed and Audited Jumps From 82 on First Day—Will Reach 1,300 Next Week.

The New York State Bonus Commission today reviewed and audited 1,000 claims for the bonus according to a statement made for the commission by Adjutant General Edward J. Westcott. This is the highest number of claims passed and audited on any single day. In 12 days, the Bonus Bureau has gradually jumped from 82 on the first day and 700 on the 10th day to 1,000 today. Beginning June 2, the commission is prepared to audit a minimum of 1,300 claims daily, and this number will increase gradually as the Bonus Bureau force, a newly organized body, becomes experienced in its work. Nearly 5,000 claims have been audited to date.

Up to noon today, the commission was in receipt of 225,000 applications for the bonus. When it is considered that the claims need not be filed before July 1, 1925, it is quite apparent with what eagerness the beneficiaries of the bonus have filed their applications. Unfortunately in their hurry to get their applications before the commission, about 20 per cent of the soldiers made errors or omissions which will necessitate the returning of their blanks. A smaller percentage is being held for rechecking. The task of immediately opening, recording and acknowledging 225,000 applications was too difficult and too great for the commission to attempt at once. At the present time, there are upwards of 26,000 applications recorded, and it is not until the mail has been opened, the application recorded, and a serial number assigned, that an acknowledgment is sent to the soldier.

The commission is adhering steadfastly to the rule that no favoritism shall be shown, and no exceptions made in the order in which the bonus is paid. Therefore, it is obviously quite unnecessary for soldiers to write to the commission asking special privileges in this respect. Picking a number of applications from the 225,000 received, would entail the employment of a much larger force than that with which the commission intends to operate the Bonus Bureau, based on a good business-like and economical plan. There is no cessation in opening the mail, as even the watchman who guards the records nights put in a 10 hour shift opening and sorting mail. If the commission succeeds, as it plans, to pay a minimum of 1,300 claims daily beginning June 2, it will in a comparatively short time have reached the average record obtained by the other states which paid a bonus.

Comptroller Fleming said today that at the end of business May 26, 3,066 claims had been actually paid amounting to $405,602.10. The largest bonus paid was $150; the smallest $9.67, and the average $132.29.

Chemical Research More Humanitarian Than Financial or Martial—Harvard Head Cites Gas Mask as Example.

Advices received from Pittsburgh regarding the recent traffic tunnel disaster, when over 250 people were overcome by automobile fumes, and eleven nearly died, are regarded as confirming the belief that chemical research is much more humanitarian than either financial or martial, in its development.

"It is our belief," today said W. B. Donham, executive chairman of the committee to extend the national service of Harvard University, "that the chief reason for the nation to support chemical research rests on its relationship to disease and death, not only in medicine, where its importance is coming to be understood, but also in the industrial side of life.

"One of the gas masks used in rescuing people in the Pittsburgh tunnel, as shown from moving pictures taken, is a direct outgrowth of chemical research under Harvard auspices.

"Professor Arthur B. Lamb, director of the Harvard Chemical Laboratories, was one of the several members of the staff taken by the government during the war. He was placed at the head of the defense investigation against German chemical methods.

"As a result of this research, in association with men working with him, he developed the carbon monoxide mask. Devised as a weapon of war, it has proved an effective means of life saving in times of peace. The special trains of the bureau of mines, sent to mine disasters, carry the equipment developed under Harvard methods.

"The mask that Professor Lamb was responsible for promises to be as important a life saver in time of peace, as it was in time of war."

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

KANGAROO RAT STREET

"Thump, thump," went Mr. Kangaroo Rat's hind feet. "Thump, thump," they went again. And before long another Kangaroo Rat could be seen along the Western desert where they made their home. "I thought I'd come to call," said Mr. Kangaroo Rat to his neighbor. "I didn't hear you knock at first," said Master Kangaroo Rat.

Mr. Kangaroo Rat said nothing. But to himself he said that probably Master Kangaroo Rat had been putting away some of the food which he stored in his burrow home.

Before he had put it away he had had it in his cheek pouches which served as a marketing basket. He never left his marketing basket anywhere as you can imagine!

"I suppose," Master Kangaroo Rat said, "if we had doors with doorbells you'd ring the doorbell instead of thumping with your hind feet to show that you had come a-calling."

"Possibly I would," said Mr. Kangaroo Rat. "But it does seem so funny to me to think that some creatures think they're the only ones who live in streets."

"They think they are the only ones who go around and pay sociable calls on each other. They do not know that we, too, have little villages and that the paths or streets between our houses are well-worn trails because we have passed over them so often in going to call on each other."

"Of course at times we quarrel. When some try to get the better of us or take away our things we quarrel, but then often people quarrel about their possessions and about their rights!"

"So we're not unusual about that. I think you have a nice burrow," Mr. Kangaroo Rat went on. "It is cozy and homelike and you build fine tunnels."

"I think the houses and mounds and burrows and all about these parts are very attractive and nice, don't you, Master Kangaroo Rat?"

"Indeed I do," Master Kangaroo Rat answered, "and the Pocket Mice think so too. They're friendly with us and like them."

"They have so many of our ways. They don't drink any water, but by thoroughly digesting their food they don't need water any more than we do.

"Well, Mr. Kangaroo Rat, I hear you have three entrances to your home. I found two all I needed. But I must come over and see yours soon."

"You must indeed," said Mr. Kangaroo Rat. "Perhaps you would come back and see it with me. I made it myself just as we all build our own homes."

"But Master Kangaroo Rat, it seems a pity you should be called by a name which really we shouldn't have. We're not rats and we're not kangaroos. It is true we have short front legs and long hind legs and can jump. It is true, too, we have a long tail by which we balance ourselves when we jump."

"But our nearest relatives are the Pocket Mice. But come along now and see my house. It's just down Kangaroo Rat street, and it's a pleasant evening to be out. I don't like the daytime, do you, Master Kangaroo Rat?"

But he knew the answer to that question, so off they jumped together and were joined by some Pocket Mice as they made their way down Kangaroo Rat street.

Funny Little Frog

Miss Teachum had been giving the class a nature lesson. It was a class of little boys and, in order to find out how much of the information had penetrated their somewhat thick heads she asked them to write an essay on the frog. Willie's effusion ran as follows:

"What a wonderful bird the frog are! When he stands he sits almost. When he hops he flies almost. He ain't got no sense hardly. He ain't got no tail hardly, either. When he sits he sits on what he ain't got almost."

TASTY DISHES

A well-made bean soup is nourishing and delicious and enjoyed by all.

Bean Soup.—Parboil one pint of beans after soaking them overnight, add one-fourth of a teaspoonful of soda to the water, cook five minutes, drain and add twice as much boiling water as beans and six ounces of salt pork cut into dice. Cook until the beans are tender, add a tablespoonful of butter, pepper and salt to taste, rub through a sieve, add one-half cupful of rich milk and serve hot.

Chicken Baked in Milk.—Melt one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add one large onion thinly sliced; cut two young chickens into pieces for serving, cover and cook slowly, turning often, for ten minutes; then add one cupful of chicken stock and cook until the chicken is tender. Remove the chicken, put the stock and onion through a sieve and add one and one-half tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour cooked together. Season with salt and pepper. Arrange the chicken on a serving dish, pour the sauce around it and garnish with sliced bananas cut into diagonal slices, dipped in flour and sautéed in butter.

Golden Orange Cake.—Take one-half cupful of butter, one cupful of New Orleans molasses, one tablespoonful of sugar, one egg, the juice and rind of an orange, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in one-half cupful of cold water, two cupfuls of pastry flour sifted with a teaspoonful of baking powder and a pinch of salt. Bake in a sheet and butter while warm and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Cheese and Cherries.—A delicious filling for sandwiches is cream cheese and chopped maraschino cherries, adding a bit of the liquor to make of the right consistency to spread.

Date Puffs.—Take cream puffs and fill with a mixture of chopped dates, a teaspoonful of lemon juice and sweetened whipped cream.

AVENUE

This market is growing every day, not alone in size but in usefulness to every family within the scope of its widespread service. It is growing in understanding the wants and needs of hundreds of patrons and in ability to anticipate these wants; growing in the information regarding food articles which enables us to distinguish "real good ones" from those which only look good; growing because hundreds, like YOU, have come to know that their interests are best served at Lay's.

WE AIM TO PLEASE. You will find an overflowing measure of satisfaction in trading here Saturday. At our week-end sales we strain every nerve to send patrons away PLEASED and SATISFIED in the knowledge that they have been given all and more than their money's worth.

Explain Correct Flag Etiquette

The following notice has been received by Mrs. Van Hooserberg, regent of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R. from the New York state chairman of the correct use of the flag, National Society, D. A. R.:

Dear Regent:
In order that correct flag usage on the approaching holidays of Memorial Day Flag Day and the Fourth of July may be called to the attention of the public, your state chairman on correct use of the flag asks you to have the newspapers of your locality print the following from the Flag Code adopted by the National Flag Conference on June 14, 1923:

Paragraph 12.—When flown at half-staff, the flag is first hoisted briskly to the peak and then lowered to the half-staff position, but before lowering the flag for the day, it is raised again to the peak. On Memorial Day, May 30th, the flag is displayed at half-staff from sunrise to noon, and at full-staff from noon to sunset for the nation lives and the flag is the symbol of the living nation.

From Paragraph 8.—When festoons or drappings of blue, white and red are desired, bunting should be used, but never the flag.

The code also recommends all persons to salute the flag when it is passing in review. If you respond in this request or engage in any other flag choris this year, do not fail to report the same in your annual Regent's report.

Faithfully Yours,
(Signed) MARY R. PILLETREAU,
N. Y. State Chairman Correct Use of Flag, N. S., D. A. R.

OUT DAILY PATTERN.

A Pretty Frock for Many Occasions.
4746. For afternoon or evening wear this model is delightful. It is pretty in changeable taffeta, crepe de chine, chiffon or in the new printed voiles or figured silks. The puff sleeves may be omitted.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. An 18 year size requires 5 1/2 yards of material 36 inches wide. The width at the bottom of the dress is 23 1/2 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps for our up-to-date spring and summer catalogue, containing 550 designs of signs of ladies, and misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article of dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

New Cricket Record Is Set in Australian Game

A new record for cricket in Australia was established recently in the match between Victoria and Queensland at Melbourne, when W. H. Ponsford and E. R. Mayne, batting for the Victorians, scored 450 points at the first wicket. The best previous wicket partnership was made by Hobbes and Rhodes in 1911, when they batted in 323 runs.

Ponsford made 248 runs and was at the wicket nearly seven hours. Mayne scored 208 and was at the wicket nearly seven and one-half hours. The fielding of the Queensland players is said to have been unusually good and they used no less than seven bowlers in an attempt to break the winning streak of the formidable Victorian pair. Victoria won the match, which was for the Interstate championship.

No Longer Dearth of Eight-Oared-Crews

Not so many years ago, one could count on the fingers of one hand all the really formidable eight-oared shell crews in the country. It's not that way any more. This rowing season looks like the best one in history. At least a dozen crews consider themselves good enough to enter the Olympic tryouts at which America's representatives at the great international games will be picked. The entrants to date include Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Syracuse, Washington, Duluth Union Boat Club, Bachellors' Barge Club and West Philadelphia Boat Club. There will be several others.

Detachable Collars

While washing in 1923 a woman decided it would be a better plan to make up shirts without collars, because the latter soiled much quicker, hence this detachable neck decoration.

DAIRY FACTS

HEALTHY COWS GIVE HIGH QUALITY MILK

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The purchase of a good herd bull is the first forward step in producing better calves at a less cost per pound. In common or grade herds calves sired by good pure bred beef bulls weigh on the average about 125 pounds a head more when one year old than calves of the same age sired by the general run of scrub bulls, says the United States Department of Agriculture, and they sell for about 2 cents a pound more as stockers and feeders. Two-year-old steers sired by good pure bred bulls weigh on an average about 200 pounds a head more than steers of the same age sired by scrub bulls, and sell for from 2 to 4 cents a pound more as stockers and feeders.

In the case of yearlings, scrubs weigh about 300 pounds, and when they sell for about 4 cents a pound as stockers and feeders they bring $12 a head, while grades at the same age weigh about 425 pounds, and will sell for about 2 cents more, or 6 cents a pound, bringing $25.50. Two-year-old scrubs weigh about 525 pounds a head, and assuming that they sell for 8 cents a pound, will bring $42 a head, while grades of equal age weigh about 725 pounds, and at 2 cents more a pound (10 cents) as stockers and feeders, bring $72.50.

There is practically no difference in the cost of feed for the two classes of calves up to the yearling age, but from that time on grades develop more capacity and require more feed than scrubs. The difference in cost of feed, however, is a very small item when the offspring of the good bulls are worth practically twice as much as those of scrub bulls.

There Are Many Coffee Cows in United States

There are 3,000,000 coffee cows and 750,000 tea cows in the United States declare dairy statisticians of the United States Department of Agriculture. That is to say, the quantity of milk and cream used in tea and coffee in the United States is equivalent to the production from that many cows.

Coffee consumption is around 1,000,000,000 pounds annually or approximately 40,000,000,000 cups. This requires 40,000,000,000 ounces of cream, the milk equivalent of which is 12,500,000,000 pounds, or practically one-eighth the total production of milk in the United States.

Consumption of tea in the United States is practically 85,000,000 pounds or approximately 21,000,000,000 cups. The quantity of cream used in tea averages only one-half that in coffee or one-half ounce per cup, or a total in terms of milk of over 3,000,000,000 pounds.

Making liberal allowances for the use of milk in coffee and tea or of half milk and half cream, there still would be more than one-eighth the total production of milk used in these two beverages. The department's survey also brought out the fact that one-tenth the sugar consumed for all purposes in the United States is used in coffee and tea, the quantity thus consumed being 800,000,000 pounds a year.

Consumption of Cream and Milk Is Increased

Consumption of fluid milk and cream in both farm and city homes has been increasing rapidly for several years, a survey just completed by the United States Department of Agriculture indicates. Average consumption in 1923 was 63 gallons, compared with 50 gallons in 1922, and 49 gallons in 1921. The average daily consumption in 1923 figures out 1.6 pints per person.

Farm people who have producing cows consume more milk and cream than do city people, but farm people without cows or with nonproducing cows, consume less than do city people, the survey shows. Average daily per capita consumption on farms having cows was 1.78 pints in 1923; on farms without cows or having nonproducers the average consumption was .775 of a pint, and in city homes the per capita daily consumption averaged .87 of a pint.

The farm figures were tabulated from approximately 30,000 schedules of consumption on individual farms, and represent the most comprehensive survey ever made of milk and cream consumption. Data on consumption in cities were obtained principally from boards of health and covered nearly 300 cities, or about 25,000,000 people.

Dairy Cow's Requirements

A dairy cow's requirements are measured by her body weight and milk production. An average dairy cow giving a good flow of milk requires about 50 pounds of silage and 15 pounds of alfalfa or clover hay besides a grain ration of from 6 to 10 pounds. Some farmers have the idea they do not need a silo because they have alfalfa or clover. This is a great mistake and a most wasteful and incorrect conception of feeding. Legume hay is not a balanced food.

ULSTER PARK, N. Y.

TODAY—Ride in this Remarkable Six

Scientifically balanced, holds the road at all speeds. All-steel body. One-piece windshield. Luxurious genuine leather cushions, tentacles deep. Cool lights. Standard non-skid cord tires.

Now here's a car to put the song of the open in your heart!

HERE is the open of the country, the quiet of star-leavened skies, the power of a thousand giants to transport you magically to the land of dreams-come-true.

A car world-famous and distinguished, the product of a vehicle-maker internationally acclaimed for the supreme in fine carriages since the days of Lincoln and Grant.

All the luxuries of a fine car—for it is a fine car. The same steel, the same engineering as the most costly Studebaker models—and that means the best men know. The same ease of handling, the same quiet, smooth operation, long life, low upkeep cost.

Now ride in it. Note its quick response to the slightest touch of the accelerator. Feel the thrill of its tremendously powerful six-cylinder motor. Mark its ease of handling, its comfort, its fine car refinements.

Then note its price is well within the limits of economy—the cost of upkeep low. The terms of payment liberal. It offers the supreme value of today in the $1000 field.

We invite you to take out a Light-Six model for comparison with other cars at near its price. Then with cars selling for several hundred dollars more. We'll place a Light-Six at your disposal for this purpose any time you name.

Buy no car at $500 or more without making this test. Don't buy blindfolded.

Antiques Bring Over $12,000 At Burhans Sale

Collection of Mrs. Charles Burhans Dispersed Largely Among Collectors Who Paid Top-notch Prices—Sale Concluded Wednesday.

More good prices were obtained at Wednesday's concluding session of the sale of the collection and personal effects of the late Mary Swart Hoe, Burhans on Pearl street, although the prices did not compare with those paid on the first day, when the rarest items of her valuable collection were sold.

The collection of Oriental rugs was the principal attraction at Wednesday's sale. There were about sixty rugs, for many of which Mrs. Burhans had paid large sums many years ago. Her latest purchase was about fourteen or fifteen years ago, at which time Oriental rugs were commanding big prices among collectors. Since the World War, the east has opened up vast storehouses of rugs, with the result that prices have dropped. Several years ago an appraisal was made of Mrs. Burhans' collection of rugs, and the appraised value at that time is understood to have been considerably in excess of the prices obtained at Wednesday's sale because the market has not been as active since then owing to the fact that rugs are not now as rare.

The Burhans collection of rugs was in excellent condition, having been in the care of Mrs. Burhans' sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary J. Finch, who for nearly fourteen years had given them her personal attention.

The entire collection of rugs brought in the neighborhood of $2,000. The highest price for any rug in the collection was $375, which was paid by Mrs. Howard of Middletown, for a Kermanshah. Two silk Persian rugs, which attracted much attention when the collection was spread on the lawn for exhibition on Monday afternoon, were purchased by George Van Dusen Hutton of this city for $210 each. A Heirats was sold for $195, several other rugs sold in the neighborhood of $100 each, and priced ranged from that figure down to $10.

The family silver, which had been collected by Mrs. Burhans after a great deal of labor, was purchased principally by nieces and nephews who wished to continue family ownership, forks and teaspoons bringing an average price of $5 each. Forty-eight pieces of flatware were sold for $150.

Several pieces of furniture were included in Wednesday's session of the sale. They included claw-foot pieces of solid mahogany of unusually fine quality and exquisite workmanship. Three such chests of drawers, or bureaus, were sold for $100, $75 and $50. A cherry slant-top desk of good proportions and excellent workmanship and design, in good condition, was sold for $75. A bed with rolling head and foot found no bidders because all the mahogany veneer had been removed. Other pieces of ordinary furniture, such as stands, kitchen and other tables, chairs, etc., brought prices somewhat in excess of the prices which would ordinarily be charged at a second-hand store. Kitchen utensils, too, brought good prices, including the price at which new goods are obtainable. Library books, consisting largely of old theological books which had been owned by Mrs. Burhans' father, the late Rev. Dr. John C. F. Hoos, together with some modern fiction and reference books, were sold at about the prices which would be obtained at any auction. A ten volume set of the Century Dictionary, bound in half morocco, with covers somewhat miled from dampness, was sold for $2, which is a fair price considering the price asked by second-hand book dealers in New York city.

The total proceeds of Tuesday's session, exclusive of the real estate, were in excess of $9,000. It is estimated that the session on Wednesday brought under $4,000.

J. B. Sisson's Sons of Poughkeepsie, who conducted the sale, advertised the sale extensively among their extensive clientele of collectors throughout eastern New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Massachusetts, and the sale on both days was attended by more collectors than have gathered in any sale in this section of the state in many years. Mrs. Burhans having been an ardent collector, the sale appealed especially to collectors and most of the valuable articles were sold to them at top-notch prices.

Antiques Bring Over $12,000 At Burhans Sale

Collection of Mrs. Charles Burhans
Dispersed Largely Among Collectors Who Paid Top-notch
Prices—Sale Concluded Wednesday.

More good prices were obtained at Wednesday's concluding session of the sale of the collection and personal effects of the late Mary Swart Hoes Burhans on Pearl street, although the prices did not compare with those paid on the first day, when the rarest items of her valuable collection were sold.

The collection of Oriental rugs was the principal attraction at Wednesday's sale. There were about sixty rugs, for many of which Mrs. Burhans had paid large sums many years ago. Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With Othine—Double Strength

This preparation for the treatment of freckles is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of Othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

Night School

Supt. of Schools Michael Reports on Night School Established by Board of Education—Cost $1,836. Superintendent Michael submitted the following report to the board of education at its meeting Wednesday evening:

To the Honorable the Board of Education.

In my last report I stated that the night school had closed on April 8. From its opening about the first of October until the closing night there were registered 133 pupils. A registration fee of one dollar is required from each pupil as a guarantee of good faith. This is refunded to the pupil providing he has been in attendance seventy-five per cent of the sessions of the school following his registration. $108 was thus collected and at the close of school $63.60 was refunded. Only men were employed as teachers in the night school an arrangement that seems to appeal strongly to the people in attendance, all of whom are adults.

Following is a list of subjects taught in the evening school and

The increasing use of the library on the part of the high school students is most gratifying. It is one of the most valuable departments in our educational system. Here the students cultivate a taste for good reading and form correct habits of investigation and study. The proximity of the city library also enables that institution to render valuable service to the high school.

The following report of attendance at the public schools for the month of April is submitted:

The night school expenses have been approximately as follows:

Teachers' salaries	$1,300.50
Janitors' service	235.50
Fuel and light, (est.)	250.00
Text books & supplies (est.)	50.00
Total	$1,836.00

At the last session of this school seventy-five certificates signed by the principal and superintendent of schools were issued to pupils who had attended twenty or more sessions. These certificates were highly prized by all who received them and especially by those who were studying for citizenship papers.

I take great pleasure in submitting a report on the work of the high school library from September 13, 1923 to May 23, 1924.

CAPT. T. R. HICKMAN ON "TEJANA," MEX.

When the American cowboys sailed from New York to participate in an international rodeo at the British Empire Exposition at Wembley, Eng., they carried with them Tejana, a typical Mexican mustang pony, that will be presented to the Prince of Wales. According to Ranger Captain Thomas R. Hickman, Tejana, which was born in Chihuahua, Mexico, eight years ago, can stop on a nickle and wheel on a dime. "And, besides, the Prince won't have so far to fall, for Tejana stands only 14 hands," he added.

Do You Really Enjoy New Shoes?

You should, and can, if they need no "breaking in."

How often you have made unfavorable note of that stiff, jerky gait common to wearers of some new shoes. This ungainly manner of walking is mostly due to unnaturally shaped, stiff and perhaps heavy footwear.

Your feet, in order to support and carry the body weight properly, must be free enough so that the foot muscles can have strengthening exercise and respond buoyantly as muscles should. Such shoes are a pleasure to wear, from the very first day.

Easy, graceful steps are the outcome of natural foot movement. To be graceful one needs unrestricted functioning of the 26 small bones and numerous muscles of the foot. To permit this freedom of foot action is the designed plan and purpose of the

Cantilever Shoe

The shape of the Cantilever Shoe follows the natural and graceful lines of the human foot. Plenty of room is afforded in all styles of Cantilevers without detracting from the pleasing appearance of the shoe. The straight inside line permits the toes to point straight ahead in their position of greatest efficiency. You'll find these shoes comfortable, helpful and enjoyable from the moment you put them on.

Arbiters Who Boss National League Players on Field

Here are the umpires of the National League, all former stars of the game, and now the keenest students of the national game. Each is identified on the photograph. Emslie, in the center, is the dean of the corps, with thirty years of service. Hank O'Day has served twenty-five years. Klem has put in nineteen years. Quigley has served a decade. Moran, who has won fame with his football team of "Praying Colonels" from Kentucky. McCormick played third base for Anson's immortal White Stockings. The other five men are comparatively young in the league, all being in less than five years.

Jack Fournier has given it out in Brooklyn that with the addition of Milt Stock, the Dodgers overnight become championship contenders.

Manager Bancroft, of the Boston Braves, has released Outfielder Bill Bagwell to the Galveston Texas league club.

Tom Sheehan, Cincinnati recruit pitcher, has a chance to lead the National league pitchers this year if he continues to get the breaks during the season.

Bob Bescher, once the speed demon of the big leagues, is still able to circle the bases in fair style for Fort Worth in the Texas league in the daily workouts of the team.

First Baseman Niehaus, of Chattanooga, set a record for chances handled by a player in a nine-inning game when he accepted 21 putouts and three assists, against Little Rock.

Four or five more days until somebody will start discussing whether or not the ball is triveller than last year. What's the difference? The discussions never amount to anything.

The Rise Or the Fall of Miller

As Result of Main Bout Here Friday Night Says Poughkeepsie Sports Writer—Romanelli Ready For Hyatt.

Says the Poughkeepsie Eagle-News:

Joe Colletti arrived in town Tuesday to prepare for his fight with Terry Miller, Friday night, at the Kingston Open-Air Arena. This twelve round bout will mark either the rise or fall of Miller, who held Joe to a draw at Madison Square Garden several weeks ago after Joe had him a fine beating, in their first encounter. Miller is confident if nothing else and he feels that he has analyzed Joe's style. But the Poughkeepsie Kid was not in good shape for their battle at the Garden and for this fight he will be in the well known pink of condition.

There is little question but that Joe can outpoint Miller when he is right and after his set-to with Al Brown last Saturday night, the local flyweight contender will tolerate nothing less than a decision. Before going into the ring it is his avowed purpose to knock Miller out just as quickly as possible.

The Poughkeepsie Kid will content himself with light training stunts until Thursday when he will rest before going to Kingston on Friday morning. Working with Joe, is Kid Romanelli who is booked to go eight rounds with Don Hyatt, the pride of Kingston. These two boys have met before and the best they can do is pound each other until both are too tired to hit a finishing punch. Their first encounter made had blood between them and their second fight made matters worse. When they come together Friday night both will be out to hurt the other.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES IN THE MAJOR LEAGUE.

The Giants made merry at the expense of their brethren from across the river. They checked the Dodgers' advance with a double defeat, 6 to 5 and 4 to 2, increased their own lead, sent the Dodgers into fourth place and broke Dazy Vance's winning streak of six games.

The Yankees broke even with the Senators, winning the opener 7 to 4, when they knocked their old enigma, Walter Johnson, out of the box, but losing to night cap 6 to 1.

The Red Sox lost their chance to top the league race when they broke even in the double bill with the Athletics, losing the first game in the ninth, when Welch hit a homer, but taking the second, 1 to 0.

After being shut out in the first game, 6 to 0, the Reds won the second game from the Cardinals, 5 to 3, when Doak weakened.

Lee's triple and Wilson's home accounted for the Phillies' four run and the Braves lost, 4 to 1.

Collins bested Shocker in a pitcher's battle in the first game, the Tigers winning 4 to 3, but the Browns took their revenge in the second, scoring a shut-out, 7 to 0.

The Cubs drove two Pirate pitchers from the mound and won a hard hitting game from the Pirates 6 to 6.

The White Sox and Indians divided the double bill, Cleveland winning the first 5 to 0, but losing the second, 13 to 6.

Early Opening for City Schools

Board of Education Decides Opening Date Shall Be September 2.—Thrift System Adopted—Hoes Medal for History.

At the meeting of the board of education held Wednesday evening in the rooms of the board at the high school, several important matters were called to the attention of the board. The members went on record as favoring the installation of a thrift system in the city schools, the school calendar for 1924-1925 was adopted, bids for supplies for the coming year were received and opened and the contracts awarded. A report of the building committee in regard to improvements to school properties was received and various other matters were brought up for action.

Trustees Betz, Thompson, Van Wagonen, Beeres, Kearney, Gill and President Flemming, were present.

Thrift System Adopted. After the minutes of the last meeting were read, W. S. Semple, representing the Educational Thrift Service of New York, explained to the members of the board his plan for establishing a thrift and savings system in the city schools and asked the board to approve of the system. After a brief explanation of the working of the system followed by numerous questions by the members of the board, a resolution was offered by Trustee Van Wagonen approving of the system. This resolution was adopted.

The plan as laid out by Mr. Semple involves very little work on the part of the teachers and there is no responsibility with any of the school teachers or school officials. The plan as briefly explained is to have a day set aside which will be a thrift day, when the pupils who so desire may bring their savings, small or large, to school, together with a pass book issued by the bank in which they desire their deposits to be made. The teacher enters upon the pass book the amount of the deposit and a duplicate is torn from the book and with the money is placed in an envelope in the class room and from there sent to the principal who in turn makes the deposits for the pupils of the school.

The envelopes are received by the bank and at no time is any member of the school force liable for loss of deficiency. This matter is taken care of by the company which installs the system and which guarantees to make good to the bank. Supplies are taken care of by the company and given the bank when it enters into the contract with the company. The usual method is to secure all of the savings banks to handle the proposition and this matter is taken care of by the representative of the company after permission has been secured to install the system in the schools.

Mr. Semple stated that he had gone before the principals of the schools during the afternoon and they had favored the plan, which involves no responsibility and little work. The system is intended to cultivate the habit of thrift and saving among the students of the schools. Deposits of any amount will be received after an account has been started for the pupil.

Save By Cash Payments. The finance committee offered the payroll for May amounting to $22,410.63 and bills amounting to $8,979.49 which were ordered paid. In the amount for supplies, which is large this month, is included the payment for coal. By paying cash for coal a very considerable amount has been saved the city by the board's action.

President Flemming was authorized to make all arrangements for commencement day exercises.

Repairs At Various Schools.

Trustee Van Wagonen of the building committee reported to the board that the committee had spent one evening recently in going over the matter of needed repairs and the recommendations recently made by the board of health, board of fire commissioners and the state education department. He reported that a great part of this work had been done by Mr. Elmendorf the school mechanic, and that other work would be completed as rapidly as possible. There were several matters of importance however which he desired to submit to the board.

One was the condition of the toilets at school number 3. The situation had been gone over by the committee and it recommended that an addition be erected of brick, to house 12 toilets. While the building was being erected it would be desirable to build up two stories and use the upper floor for much needed storage room. The committee suggested that Mr. Elmendorf and Henry Myers go over the situation and prepare plans for the addition so that bids might be called for. At school number 4, several rooms needed painting. The committee recommended that Mr. Elmendorf take charge and get some additional men to assist in this necessary work.

The matter of toilets at number 6 was also an important matter and his recommendation was that Mr. Myers and Mr. Elmendorf go over the situation at this school and report to the committee for its consideration. The committee had been unable to come to any decision as to what to do at Number 6.

The lighting in some of the schools was very poor and the committee also asked that electric lights gradually be installed in the needed places. The cost of putting electric lights in School No. 8, as an experiment, was suggested.

Trustee Gill moved that the action of the building committee and its recommendations be approved. The board unanimously accepted the report and the committee was given power to proceed with the minor repairs and obtain estimates on the others as recommended.

The building committee also recommended that the bid of the Chamberlin Weather Strip Company be accepted and that the strips be placed on the windows in certain rooms of the high school and that the windows be caulked. This matter had been referred to the building at the last meeting. Carried.

Bids Received. Three firms submitted bids for furnishing school materials for the school year 1924-1925. The bids were as follows:

Forsyth & Davis—Library books, $824.85; general supplies, $2,660.28; text books, $3,437.90; paper, $1,211.76.

William O'Reilly—Library books, $818.04; general supplies, $2,835.25; text books, $3,691.80; paper, $1,334.33.

A. J. Murphy—Library books, $524; general supplies, $3,542; text books, $3,456; no bid for paper.

Contracts Awarded. On motion of Trustee Gill, the contract for general supplies, text books and paper were awarded to Forsyth & Davis, they being the lowest bidders, and William O'Reilly was awarded the contract for library books, his bid on that item being the lowest.

Discussion on School Calendar. When the rules committee offered the school calendar for 1924-1925 for adoption, there was a discussion over the opening date of school in September. The calendar as proposed called for the opening of schools on September 8. Trustee Van Wagonen objected to this date and stated that he had always contended that the schools should open immediately after Labor Day. The proposed calendar allowed the pupils 190 school days and his opinion was that after the long vacation it was policy to get the students back in school as soon after September first as possible.

Trustee Thompson moved that the calendar as offered be adopted. The motion was seconded by Mrs. Betz. Trustee Van Wagonen then amended the motion, changing the opening date from September 8 to September 2, the day after Labor Day. On roll call, the amendment was adopted. Trustee Gill, Beeres, Van Wagonen and President Flemming voting aye and Trustees Kearney, Thompson and Betz voting no.

The schedule as adopted appears in another column of The Freeman. The rules committee offered a resolution that when the board adjourns, it be to meet on June 20. The regular date would be during the examination and closing period of schools and at a time when the schools are particularly busy.

Alumni Dance June 27. A communication was received from the Kingston High School Alumni Association asking for the use of the high school auditorium for the evening of June 27 for the annual reunion and dance. They requested that the time be extended to 12 o'clock. The permission was granted and Trustees Beeres and Thompson were appointed as chaperones.

Trustee Kearney, of the visiting committee, reported that the committee had visited Schools 7, 6, 8 and 1 in the order named. The committee was continued for another month to allow a completion of the visits to other schools.

Superintendent Michael was granted leave of absence from May 29 until June 4.

Mrs. Betz brought up the matter of the awarding of a medal to the student of the high school who stood highest in American history at the end of each year. The medal was to be awarded by Mrs. R. Randall Hoes, to be known as the Hoes medal, in memory of her husband. This matter had been talked over with Prof. Lewis and a reply had been sent Mrs. Hoes stating that her offer could not be accepted. The matter had never been brought before the board and the board knew nothing of the offer. President Flemming was empowered to see Mrs. Hoes, to accept the offer on behalf of the board, and make arrangement for the awarding of the medal to perpetuate the memory of Mr. Hoes.

The board then adjourned.

Questions Asked By Bishop Brown

Tricks to Search Conscience of His Judges by Means of Interesting Questionnaire on Biblical Subjects.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Cleveland, May 29.—Bishop William Montgomery Brown, the white-haired churchman who is being tried for the ancient crime of heresy by a jury of eight Episcopal bishops here, made a vigorous effort today to put the bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church on record as to their literal belief in the scriptures.

Through his counsel, the 69 year old "heretic" filed an affidavit with the trial court, requesting that more than 100 of the bishop-governors of the church be summoned to Cleveland as witnesses for the defense, or if that is not possible, to have them give their views on fundamentalism and modernism through the medium of an elaborate questionnaire, based on both old and new testaments.

Bishop Brown said in his affidavit that by their testimony he expected to prove that "heresy in varying degrees is rampant throughout the church, in that few of present day divines accept literally the marvelous stories of the Bible, and that the doctrine of the church does not compel a bishop or a communicant to believe literally that God made woman out of Adam's rib."

The effort to put his brother bishops on record is the crux of Bishop Brown's defense against the heresy charges brought against him. His questionnaire contains such questions as:

"Do you believe:

"That God made the world in six days and rested on the seventh?"

"That Eve was made of Adam's rib as he slept?"

"That the serpent talked with Eve about forbidden fruit?"

"That Adam lived 930 years and Methuselah 969?"

"That God told Noah to build the ark?"

"That only Noah and those with him survived the flood?"

"That there were three sons of Noah, and of them the whole earth has been overspread?"

"That God did not when Abraham set before him butter, milk and a dressed calf?"

"That Lot's wife, looking backward, became a pillar of salt?"

"That when Moses stretched out his hand, God drowned the Egyptians?"

"That God ordered the sons of Levi to slay every man, his brother, companion and neighbor?"

"That God caused Balaam's ass to speak?"

"That Jesus is literally and carnally the son of God?"

"That Jesus walked on the water?"

"That Jesus turned water into wine?"

"That Peter restored to life Dorcas who had died?"

These are only a few of the 408 specific questions bearing on the literalness of the scriptures that Bishop Brown wants his fellow bishops to answer.

Bishop Brown, after 40 years in teaching, the word, frankly states he does not believe any of it—literally. He declares he accepts it all in a symbolic sense. He accepts it as he accepts Aesop's Fables but in no other way.

"If we can show that other educated churchmen likewise refuse to believe these things ever literally happened," said the bishop, "then the case against me falls down, or, the vast majority of bishops in the church must also be brought to trial for heresy."

It is regarded as extremely doubtful whether the trial court will permit Bishop Brown to summon the other bishops or to present their views to the court in defense of his own beliefs. The court, thus far, has taken the position that Bishop Brown—and not the Episcopal Church, or its components parts, is on trial and that for the present purposes the examination of Bishop Brown alone is sufficient.

NO FIXED RULE FOR AMOUNT INDIVIDUAL SHOULD SAVE

By S. W. Strass, President American Society for Thrift

What percentage of a man's income should he save?

This is a question frequently asked, and a brief discussion of it might prove of interest to many who have given consideration to the matter.

Some time ago the United States Government Savings System issued a statement that a thrifty man should spend 80 per cent. of his income for living expenses; 10 per cent. for education; 10 per cent. for giving; 10 per cent. for recreation and save 20 per cent. The Treasury Department has stated that a family of three with $2,000 income should save $200; a family of four with $3,000 income should save $300; a family of four with $4,000 income should save $400; a family of four with $5,000 income should save $500; and a family of five with $10,000 income should save $2,400.

These figures were undoubtedly arrived at after a close study of the personal economics of many families and are meant to cover average conditions. While it may be true that the average man in America should save 20 per cent. of his personal income it does not follow by any means that a man who under certain circumstances only saves 10 per cent. or even 5 per cent. of his income is not just as thrifty as some other man who might save 50 per cent. of his income.

There are right-fut duties and obligations that must be met, and their fulfillment might preclude the saving of any considerable sum of money. On the other hand, a man might be so situated that even if he did lay aside 20 per cent. of his income he would still be indulging in wasteful habits. Thrift is a matter of morals as well as of money. It is self-discipline; strength of character; efficiency and a common-sense administration of one's affairs.

Save systematically as much as you can consistent with your circumstances in life. Be economical, but not miserly. Eliminate all possible waste. If one will endeavor honestly to adhere to these practices he will be able to save what is consistent and right and within the meaning of true thrift.

PUBLISHERS ACCEPT
FIVE OSGOOD PLAYS

Erastus Osgood, whose plays are so well and favorably known in Kingston, has just had his fifth play accepted by Walter H. Baker, dramatic publishers of Boston. The new play, which is in the nature of comedy, is entitled, "Rival of the Gods." The other four were "The Centipede," "I've Got to Go to the Movies," "At the Restful Hour Inn," and "Cornie Turns the Trick." "A Bunch of Fun," also by Mr. Osgood, which was played for the first time in Kingston by Kingston amateurs, is claimed by the Baker Company to be the best selling play in the Baker catalogue.

Library Closed Tomorrow.

The City of Kingston Library will be closed on Decoration Day. Beginning June first the library will close each evening, at 8 o'clock.

GUARD SISTER OF KIDNAPER'S VICTIM.

Mrs. M. Mitchell, Josephine Franks.

A police guard has been placed around Josephine Franks, sister of Robert Franks, Chicago schoolboy, who was kidnapped and murdered after his kidnappers had demanded a $10,000 ransom from his father, Jacob Franks, millionaire manufacturer. This action followed receipt of letters threatening harm to the girl. Mott Kirk Mitchell, assistant principal of the Harvard School of Chicago, in which Robert Franks was a pupil, was arrested there as a suspect.

CHURCHES, SUNDAY, JUNE 1

St. Marion and High Woods.—The Rev. W. G. Hoekje is to conduct services Sunday, June 1, when the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated. On June 8th, Holy Baptism is to be administered. Morning and Rosendale.—The Rev. Th. A. Beekman of Forest Glen will conduct the services next Sunday. At both churches the Holy Sacrament is to be celebrated. Arville and Lyonsville.—Services are announced for both of these churches for June 8th.

T. J. FULLER AT FREE METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday, June 1st, the Rev. T. J. Fuller of Waterloo, Penn., will preach both morning and evening at the Free Methodist Church on Trem-pe revenue, between Downs and O'Neil streets. The Rev. Mr. Fuller is a man of wide experience, extensive travel and forceful personality. He is a speaker of exceptional ability, filled with spiritual power and interest in his work. Hearing him will repay any special effort on the part of those who attend the services. On Sunday the morning service will be at 11 o'clock and the evening service at 8 o'clock.

Heavy Holiday Traffic Today

There was heavy auto traffic through Kingston today of those on the way to the mountains to spend Memorial Day and the week end, or motorists who are on tour for the holiday. Auto traffic started early this morning and throughout the day there was a steady stream of automobiles passing through the city.

AT THE THEATERS

At the Opera House this evening, "The White Sister," a Henry King Production for Inspiration Pictures, will be screened. Lillian Gish plays the leading role. Charles Lane impersonates Prince Chiaramonte in support of Miss Gish.

Sidney Chaplin, famous brother of the celebrated Charles Chaplin, returns to the screen playing a most important role in "Her Temporary Husband," which is to be the feature picture of the program at the Keeney Theater this evening, Friday and Saturday. It is a First National screen version of Edward Daulton's popular stage success of the same title.

The offering at the Auditorium today is Willard Mack, Enid Bennett, Huntley Gordon and Rosemary Theby in Willard Mack's great play, "Your Friend and Mine," said to be a tremendously gripping melodrama of two trusts betrayed. It depicts the indulgence of a lonely and devoted wife in the sham solace of the bizarre life of Greenwich Village. For Decoration Day, John Gilbert, Barbara La Marr and Bessie Love, in William Fox's special "St. Elmo," the dramatic story of a man embittered against the whole world and especially against women, because the one woman he had ever loved, proved untrue.

As a special holiday bill for today and tomorrow the Orpheum theater offers two big feature pictures, "Restless Wives," Izola Forrester, the famous novelist and student of human nature, has given today's big social problem a thorough analysis and embodied her findings in a grippingly dramatic story, "Restless Wives." It is C. C. Burr's pulsating picture of this timely theme. The second is Charles Chaplin in his latest, "The Pilgrim," the laugh of a lifetime in four reels.

BRITISH WILL CONTINUE FIGHT FOR BETTER NAVY.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Washington, May 29.—Continuing his fight to make the United States navy equal in strength to that of Great Britain and Japan, Representative Britten, Republican, of Illinois, announced today that he would push his bill to appropriate $6,500,000 to elevate the guns on 13 American warships to increase their firing range.

The proposal was rejected by the house in passing the bill for new naval construction, but Britten will force another vote on it as a separate measure.

Slayer's Father May Lose Reason

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Amherst, Me., May 29.—It was not written that the sins of children should be visited upon their parents, but such is the case in the murder of Louise Gerlish, pretty 19-year-old school teacher by Roland MacDonald, 15, one of her pupils. Today Adalbert MacDonald, father of the young slayer, is guarded by a deputy sheriff and two physicians are in constant attendance, for his mind has tottered under the strain occasioned by his son's predicament.

The physicians hope they may be able to restore the unfortunate riven driver to sanity. The deputy sheriff will try to restrain the woodman's powerful muscles if he becomes violent.

Meanwhile Roland, unconcerned by his plight, evidences much interest in his meals and in nothing else. An under current of lynch talk is still heard in Ellsworth, the slain girl's native town, but authorities do not expect an attempt to take MacDonald from the jail there.

PONCKHOCKIE NINE BEAT TRINITY TEAM

Wednesday evening in a very interesting game of baseball the Ponckhockie Congregational Church defeated the Trinity M. E. Church by a score of 8 to 2. Gompers Warns Trade Unionists

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Washington, May 29.—Following up Senator Robert M. La Follette's denunciation of the Farmer-Labor-Progressive convention to be held at St. Paul June 7, the American Federation of Labor today warned trade unionists throughout the country to have nothing to do with the convention.

The warning was signed by Samuel Gompers, who said he had evidence that the convention would be controlled "by international communists from Moscow."

Protests Fight And Adjourns

Methodist General Conference Adjourned at Noon After Month's Session—Check on Churches Inclined to Defect.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Springfield, Mass., May 29.—The Methodist General Conference adjourned at noon today following a stirring address by Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of Boston, in which the proceedings of the conference were reviewed.

Bishop Hughes said the conference was one of the most memorable in the history of the church, through its acting on unification and its stand on civic question and reaffirming the rule of John Wesley concerning amusements. He said the conference marks a new era in Methodism.

Delegates from all over the world were given their pay envelopes at 11 o'clock and the final adjournment was taken after a few minor items were disposed of. A report from the committee on temporal economy, recommending that one-half the money needed for new church buildings must be secured before construction can begin, was adopted.

This change will prevent churches from becoming too heavily involved in debt for new buildings.

Resolutions protesting against the Garpentier-Gibbons fight to be held at Michigan City, Indiana, were sent to Governor Emmett F. Branch, by order of the conference.

Face Deficit of Over $130,000,000

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Washington, May 29.—The United States treasury faces a deficit of from $130,000,000 to $200,000,000 in the next fiscal year if President Coolidge signs the new compromise tax bill, Senator Smoot, Republican, of Utah, chairman of the senate finance committee declared today.

Smoot denied reports that he had predicted a surplus under the new revenue measure. The bill, he explained, will bring in a surplus only over the appropriations ordered by the budget bureau, but will not cover either the cost of farm relief legislation or a score of other expenditures ordered by congress.

A very pretty wedding took place in the Accord Reformed Church on Sunday afternoon, May 25, at 3 o'clock when Miss Frances Coddington of Accord became the bride of Frank Markle of Accord. The Rev. L. M. Braam, pastor of the church officiating. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Green, Miss Marguerite Coddington, Miss Ethel Osterhout and Joaquin Coddington. The bride was gown in a white satin spangle robe and veil and carried a bouquet of white bride roses. The maid of honor wore rose georgette with hat to match and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The bridesmaids wore blue and gray canton crepe with hats matching and also carried bouquets of sweet peas. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coddington. The house was very prettily decorated and supper was served to forty-five relatives. Many useful presents were received. The bride and groom departed amid a shower of congratulations and confetti. After May 25 Mr. and Mrs. Markle expect to spend the summer at Minnevaska.

Horticultural Facts

It is not necessary to use dynamite in digging holes to set trees in most soils. Never dynamite when soil is wet.

Apples for every day in the year may be had from a couple dozen trees, most of which should be winter varieties.

Careful spraying with lime sulphur is the best method of dealing with the San Jose scale. This spray also destroys the eggs of plant lice and is valuable as a fungicide.

Raising the right varieties is one secret of success of the apple grower.

DEAF HEAR INSTANTLY.

Amazing Invention Brings Immediate Relief to Those Who Are Deaf. A wonderful invention which enables anyone whose auditory nerve is still active to hear all sounds as clearly and distinctly as a child has been perfected by the Dictograph Products Corporation, Suite 1307-F, 220 West 42nd street, New York city. There is no waiting, no delay, no danger, but quick, positive instantaneous results—you hear instantly. So positive are the manufacturers that everyone who suffers from deafness will be amazed and delighted with this remarkable invention that they are offering to send it absolutely free for 10 days trial. No deposit—no C. O. D.—No obligation whatever. If you suffer, take advantage of their liberal free trial offer. Send them your name and address today—Advertisement.

Prevent Tree Diseases. Most diseases are caused by a fungus growth on the plants, but a few are caused by a bacteria. The best spray materials used to prevent either of these diseases are bordeaux mixture, lime-sulphur, ammoniacal carbonate of copper or flowers of sulphur. The first two materials will not wash off so easily after they once become dry. The last two are used in cases where the fruit is to be washed before being eaten.

RASPBERRY DISEASE MAY BE CONTROLLED

In many sections where black raspberries were formerly a crop of considerable importance, few or none of these berries are grown at the present. Yet anthracnose may be controlled by starting with disease-free plants, clean cultivation, careful pruning and spraying thoroughly before the blossom buds open.

If you will go through your black raspberry patch and observe carefully along about the middle of May you will probably find small reddish spots on the young growing canes and leaves. These spots gradually enlarge and they become gray to white in the center, with a raised reddish margin. Especially is this true of the spots on the canes. The spots frequently are so numerous as to cause large, irregular, whitish patches on the cane. These patches materially shorten the life of the plants, and when the disease is very abundant the plants are weakened, fruit production is decreased, and the plants are very likely to suffer serious winter injury. Frequently the disease becomes so serious that the fruit fails to ripen.

In planting a patch of blackcaps be sure to select disease-free plants, and it is a wise plan to remove all of the old cane from the young plants and set out only the roots and crown of the plants, because the disease may be carried to a new plantation on old canes. In order to provide the maximum of air drainage about the plants, keep the rows free from weeds and excessive cane growth. Finally, spray twice each spring, first after two or three leaves have unfolded on the old cane, using liquid lime-sulphur at the rate of one gallon to nine gallons of water; second, about a week before the blossom buds open, using liquid lime-sulphur at the rate of one gallon to thirty-nine gallons of water. Care should be taken to cover both the old canes and the new growth as thoroughly as possible.

Lime-Sulphur and Lead Reaction Is Prevented

Experiments at Geneva have shown that the undesirable reaction between lead arsenate and lime-sulphur when these are used as a combination spray, can be effectively prevented by the addition of casein-containing preparations used in proper proportions, said Dr. R. W. Thatcher, director of the New York state experiment station.

"The question as to whether the presence of the protective colloidal casein material in the mixture will in any degree lessen the insecticidal or fungicidal efficiency of the other ingredients can only be determined by actual spraying experiments. It would seem, however, that the quite general use of casein preparations as a spreader without apparent diminution of the killing effects of the various materials to which it has been added would indicate that there is little likelihood of reduction of the killing efficiency of the combined lead-arsenate lime-sulphur spray by the addition of casein preparations to the mixture to overcome its chemical incompatibility."

Two Roguings Necessary in Controlling Mosaic

In a round-table conference on small fruits, Dr. W. H. Rankin of the Geneva station spoke of mosaic, a disease which has practically ruined raspberry growing in parts of New York state.

"Four points are essential in the effective control of mosaic in New York plantings," he said. "First of all, the diseased plants must be recognized, and this requires some experience. Second, two roguing are necessary, one in June and another in August. Third, the diseased bushes and all the roots must be dug and carried out of the planting carefully and destroyed. Only if this way can clean plantings be maintained and reliable planting stock obtained." He believed that fruiting plantings of red and purple raspberries containing more than 20 per cent mosaic are not worth the expense of roguing. Plantings less than three years old and containing less than 10 to 15 per cent mosaic may be made reasonably free from mosaic by roguing out the diseased plants.

Duty to Control Scale

If you have San Jose scale on your fruit trees you are not only suffering loss yourself, but you are maintaining a source of infestation to which your neighbor's trees are constantly exposed. Even though you had a quarantine sign nailed on your gate it wouldn't keep the insects from hatching out and traveling over the fence to the adjacent apple orchard.

Another Rum Treaty Signed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Washington, May 29.—The fifth rum treaty between the United States and foreign nations was signed today with Denmark.

The treaty is similar to those already concluded with Great Britain, Germany, Sweden and Norway.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, May 29.—Irregularly marked trading at the opening of the stock market today. The majority of issues pointed slightly downward, but firmness was noted in the public utility division. North American advanced 1/4 to 25 1/2. Philadelphia Company 1/4 to 45 1/2 and Market Street Prior Preferred 1/4 to 50 1/2.

United States Steel rose 1/4 to 95 1/2. Bethlehem Steel up 1/4 to 48 1/2. Baldwin down 1/4 to 107 1/2. Oils were heavy. Railroad shares were irregular.

Stagnant conditions prevailed in the foreign trading. There was a lack of initiative on either side of the list, the price movements being almost entirely governed by buying or selling by professional speculators to even up accounts against the holidays. As a result changes were irregularly distributed over the list, but fractional declines predominated.

Accumulation of investment issues also was less in evidence than in previous sessions with the exception of certain public utilities, dividend payments on which seemed to be assured in view of the exceedingly bright earning outlook. North American, Philadelphia Company and Public Service of New Jersey were bought steadily.

That the business turnover has held remarkably steady considering the industrial curtailment this spring is shown in the report on car loadings for the week ended May 17, indicating an increase of 4,220 cars compared with the preceding week. With the exception of last year, loadings were in excess of those in any other corresponding period in any previous year.

Sugar and rubber stocks improved moderately on short covering. Copper, shippings, independent steel and motors were neglected.

Railroad shares also displayed little activity. Pere Marquette was the only issue developing strength. Norfolk and Western still reflected disappointment over delay in the lease negotiations with the Pennsylvania.

Call money renewed at 3 1/2 per cent.

Boxing Bouts Friday Night

Kingston's first out door boxing bouts will be staged at the Kingston Fair Grounds Friday evening. The first bout will start at 8:30 o'clock. There will be 28 rounds of boxing under the state boxing commission supervision. The big ring will be erected between the home plate and the grand stand.

Joe Colletti of Poughkeepsie and Terry Miller of New York, will appear in the main bout of 12 rounds. Both are flyweights. This bout should prove one of the best ever staged here. The semi-final of 10 rounds will see Joe Werner of this city in action against Abe Cohen of New York. Both are welterweights. Werner has been seen in action here. Cohen is said to be equally fast.

The two six round bouts on the card should also prove good. Don Hyatt of this city will fight Battling Joe Romanella of Poughkeepsie. The other six round bout brings together Dominick Petrone of New York and Mickey Sapnick of New York. These boys are flyweights, and are said to be good.

The curtain raiser will be furnished in the four round bout between Davey Abad of Panama and Sammy Shack of New York. These boys are flyweights. Abad is said to be the champion flyweight of Central and South America. Shack is another fast boy.

Those who are backing the opening show at the Fair Grounds have seen all the boys on the card in action during the past few weeks and know that they are good.

Double-header Here Friday

The baseball fans of Kingston will have the opportunity of seeing the Doherty Silk Sox of Paterson in action Friday against the Colonials at the Kingston Fair Grounds. There will be two games staged. The morning game is called for 10:30 o'clock and the afternoon game at 3 o'clock. The Silk Sox are considered one of the fastest teams playing semi-professional baseball this season, and the Colonials will have to extend themselves in order to score a win. Judge Schirick will have his pitching staff on hand for both games.

Jimmy Eschen, manager of the Jersey aggregation, boasts the best pitching staff of any team playing semi-pro ball in this section of the country. Harry Harper, former big league star and who has pitched several games for the Colonials in past seasons, and Herb Herschler, another southpaw who also has had a trial in the big show are the likely pitching selections against the Colonials. The Paterson Club also has Godfrey and Currie ready for the game.

The rest of the Sox line-up will be as follows:
Knothe, ss.; Eichen, cf.; Braun, 2b.; Raymond, rf.; Lohr, lf.; Schneider, 1b.; Crowell, 3b. and Smith, c. "King" Lohr has been keeping up his home run hitting this season and his four base clout in last Sunday's game against a Philadelphia team was the only run the Sox scored. This was Lohr's fourth circuit smash of the current season and he will undoubtedly make his bid for a "big hit" against Manager Schirick's twirlers tomorrow.

Bud Culloton and Jack Morgan will probably start the games for the Schiricks. With Corregan, Coutant and Perry in reserve. Perry, coach of the local High School nine, will make his initial appearance in a Colonial uniform tomorrow morning. He may be saved to start in Sunday's game against the Colored Stars for it's Chappie Johnson and his playmates that will entertain the Colonials this Sunday afternoon. The real heavy schedule has started and Manager Schirick is figuring to get the most out of his hurling staff.

Port Jervis to Play K. H. S.

This afternoon at the Fair Grounds the local high school baseball team will play the Port Jervis team. This is the game that was postponed last Wednesday on account of rain. It is a league game and therefore means much to the locals who are out to win. The Port Jervis team is not well known but it is likely that they have a good team, since they have had good teams in all the past seasons.

The locals are in fine trim and Coach Perry expects some good work from them. He will probably start the following lineup: Captain "Dick" Whiston, c.; "Punk" Vogt, 1b.; "Phil" Hauser, 2b.; "Nook" Messinger, 3b.; "Joe" Hoffman, ss.; McLane, cf.; Howard, lf.; Schmidt or Ummerio, rf. Who will receive the pitching assignment is still in doubt, since the locals play an important game Saturday.

Englewood Team Here Saturday

The baseball team from Englewood High School will play the local high school team at the Fair Grounds Saturday afternoon at 2:30. The Englewood team has a good reputation down in its section of New Jersey and the locals will gain prestige if they win. This is the first of a two game series which has been arranged between the two schools.

The locals are anxious to win for another reason. T. W. Lewis, former principal of K. H. S. is the principal at Englewood. The locals are out to beat them and a good game may be expected.

Englewood has beaten many of the best high school teams around lower New York. It is certain that Mr. Lewis has done everything possible to insure a victory Saturday.

Coach Perry's men are all in fine shape and will be ready to do their best. The regular lineup will be started. The only position in doubt will be the pitcher, which will depend on how the Port Jervis game turns out today.

2 GAMES. 2 GAMES.

COLONIALS of Kingston vs. DOHERTY SILK SOX of Paterson

This is without doubt the fastest semi-pro team in the country. The Sox defeated only a few weeks ago the New York Yankees. Last year they played eight games with major league clubs winning five of these contests. Harry Harper, former Yankee and Colonial pitcher, will twirl one of the games.
